Rifle Training Planned For Scouts, Cubs

Instruction Course Set For Army; Safety Keynote

A new, organized program to teach local youngsters how to handle firearms safely will get under way here Sunday under sponsorship of the Boy Scouts organization and cooperating groups.

The program is designed to teach all Cub Scouts and Boy Scouts the principles of safe gun handling and gun safety before the individual boy's curiosity leads him into a tragic mishap. It was hoped that the lessons learned by the Cub Scouts will be passed on to many other boys who may not belong to any of the packs or troops.

Details of the instruction program were revealed by Link Mader, chairman of the camping and activities committee of the county's branch of the Boy Scout organization.

The program will be held next Sunday in the National Guard Armory on E. Franklin St.

At 1:30 P. M., a lecture and gun safety demonstration will be given by Lt. Stacy Hall of the Columbus City Detective Bureau. At 2 p. m., five indoor 50-foot firing ranges will be opened to all Cub Scouts and Scouts.

Only single shot, bolt action .22 caliber rifles will be used. The guns will be furnished to the participants, along with ammunition. Each firing line will be under the strict supervision of a police officer, Pickaway County deputy sheriff, or state patrolman. They will carefully coach each boy as to the loading and firing of the weapons.

Mader, in outlining plans for the afternoon, emphasized that a special caution will be maintained at all times.

"There will be nothing slapstick or careless about this thing," he

CIO Writing New Code For Welfare Fund

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The CIO convention today was expected to adopt a code designed to safeguard union welfare funds from graft and "make sure that maximum benefits" are paid.

An ethical practices committee came up with the code after receiving the views of insurance firms and other experts in the field at recent hearings in New York City. Disclosures that some union officials and insurance brokers had profited handsomely from handling such funds prompted the study.

Among the recommendations slated for adoption were:

1. Welfare funds should be audited at least semiannually by independent public accountants.
2. Trustees should make public at least once a year "all pertinent facts concerning the administration of welfare funds" including salaries, expenses and fees paid.
3. Company or union officials acting as trustees or administrators should not get extra compensation beyond their salaries.
4. Welfare programs carried through insurance companies should be awarded "on the basis of lowest net cost for given benefits provided."

Treatment Ending

TOKYO (AP)—The 22 survivors of the Japanese fishing boat Lucky Dragon, which was dusted with radioactive ash from the American hydrogen bomb tests in the Pacific, will leave Tokyo hospitals about Dec. 20. A 23rd fisherman died after a long illness.

North End Building May Be Curtailed

Construction work in the "north end" of Circleville may be curtailed Jan. 1, city council was told Tuesday night.

Attorney Joe Adkins, representing the Central Development Co., declared that the Federal Housing Administration had rejected loans of the company because there were no definite city plans for storm and sanitary sewers.

In an hour long verbal exchange with various councilmen, Adkins accused council of not making enough progress in the sewer problem, one of the most difficult facing the community.

However, councilmen countered with statements concerning the work being done by the Columbus engineering firm of Burgess and Niple. They pointed out that a number of surveys have been made by the firm at the direction of city council.

ADKINS FURTHER charged that no definite plan for financing storm and sanitary sewers was even being considered by Burgess and Niple. He said that this one factor was the main reason why FHA had turned down the loan requests.

Joe Messana, head of Central Development Co., told council that his firm was willing to put in sewers at its own expense. But he

Red China Premier Lashes New U.S.-Nationalist Pact

LONDON (AP)—Chinese Communist Premier Chou En-Lai said tonight the United States committed "a grave warlike provocation" by entering a few days ago into a mutual security treaty with the Chinese Nationalists.

Chou's blistering statement, broadcast by the Peiping radio, threatened that if the United States does not withdraw all its forces from Formosa, the Formosa Strait and Penghu Islands "and persists in interfering in China's internal affairs, it must take upon itself all the grave consequences."

Chou described Nationalist Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek as "the public enemy of the Chinese people."

The broadcast, recorded here, quoted the premier saying: "To liberate Taiwan (Formosa) and to liquidate the traitorous Chiang Kai-shek clique is a matter which falls entirely within the scope of China's sovereignty and internal affairs and no interference

Reds Expected To Try Stall On Flier Issue

U.N. Assembly Slated To Take Up Problem Of Chinese Prisoners

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The 16 Korean War Allies looked for Russia to throw up procedural roadblocks today in an effort to delay U. N. Assembly debate on Red China's jailing of 11 U. S. fliers as spies.

Most diplomats felt, however, such Soviet tactics could not hold up action for more than a day on the Allies' demand that the U. N. denounce the Chinese action as a violation of the Korean armistice and seek the release of the men.

U. N. observers said Russia could delay things a while by:

1. Arguing the Assembly has no right to handle the case on grounds that it dealt with espionage rather than prisoners of war.
2. Demanding that the case be allocated first to the 60-nation Political Committee instead of going direct to the Assembly as recommended by the steering panel.
3. Insisting that Red China be invited here to give her side in the debate.

THE ASSEMBLY must decide on all such points before turning to discussion of the Allied resolution, which calls on Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold to work for release of the 11 airmen and report back to the assembly by Dec. 31.

Hammarskjold is expected to approach the Chinese through some neutral state.

India is understood to have indicated her willingness to act as go-between.

U. S. sources said they anticipated no opposition to the resolution except from the five-nation Soviet bloc and a few Asian states who feel the case should first be placed in the hands of the Korean Military Armistice Commission.

The United States hopes for a big vote of approval that might influence Red China to free the prisoners.

U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. yesterday gave Hammarskjold a letter naming four other American airmen that Red Chinese representatives to the Geneva conference admitted were being held by Peiping. Lodge charged that their detention constituted an additional violation of the Korean armistice.

Arraignment Set In Eaton Slaying

EATON (AP)—Carl Miller, 46-year-old male nurse, will be arraigned tomorrow on first-degree murder charges for the slaying of his wife, Louise, 36, and her friend, Lee Traver Veach, 32.

Prosecuting Atty. Everett Fahr-enholz said there was "no romantic interest" between Mrs. Miller and Veach, a carpenter.

Mrs. Miller and Veach were shot to death Sunday at the Miller farmhouse. The Millers were seeking a divorce. Under a court permit, Miller went to see his 3-week-old son. Veach's presence there irritated Miller, Sheriff Floyd Spiller said.

Most Of Nation Still Shivering

CHICAGO (AP)—Most of the nation shivered in freezing weather today in an early December cold snap.

The U. S. Weather Bureau here said this morning was one of the coldest this season for the country.

The 32-degree line extended from Southern Georgia, northward through northern Alabama into northern Arkansas and westward into California. The coastal states on the West Coast and Gulf Coast were about the only points about freezing.

It was a cold 12 above in Danville, Va.; 14 in Charleston, W. Va. 19 in Greensboro, N. C., and 24 in Savannah, Ga.

Christmas Box Betrays Fugitive

They opened a closet door and there was Penn, beneath a Christmas box that had fallen on his head. He won't find out what's in it for a while; he's serving out a $210 fine at the rate of $1.50 a day.

Little Backing Is Found For Joe's Attack On Ike

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McCarthy's politically explosive accusation that President Eisenhower has displayed "weakness" toward communism so far has drawn little backing for the senator from Wisconsin.

Among senators reached for comment on the sharp criticism, none supported McCarthy 100 per cent. Some Republicans who voted last Thursday against condemning him took issue with him for assailing the President.

Senate Democrats, who voted solidly to condemn McCarthy, tended in off-the-record comment to regard their party as likely to benefit from the repercussions on the Republican side.

Eisenhower himself refrained from any immediate comment, but he authorized a White House statement listing administration steps in the anti-Communist fight at home. Press Secretary James C. Hagerty also called attention to the President's news conference remark last week that the United States must not let itself be goaded into war by the Communists.

At least one member of Eisenhower's official family was letting his anger be known, however. Secretary of Labor Mitchell said in Los Angeles last night:

"All of my upbringing, religious and in every other way, makes my blood boil when the President of the United States is attacked in that way."

McCarthy's charge that Eisenhower has displayed a "shrinking show of weakness" in dealing with communism is traceable in part to Senate Republican leader Knowland's call for a U. S. blockade against Red China in an effort to enforce the Chinese Communists to release 13 Americans imprisoned as "spies."

McCarthy has supported Knowland, but Eisenhower ruled out such a step at this time. He said a blockade would be an act of war.

Knowland voted against condemnation of McCarthy last week but he declined to go along with the "weakness toward communism" charge against Eisenhower.

"Based on my observation during the past two years, this administration has not been and will not be in the future, soft on the issue of communism," Knowland said last night.

The McCarthy accusations brought a defense of the President by Leonard W. Hall, Republican national chairman:

"Sen. McCarthy has made a major error. Without attempting to evaluate his fight against communism, I regret to find him in what must be strange company to him, making a personal attack on the President of the U. S."

"I do not think it is necessary to remind the people that Presi-

President Refuses Quarrel With Attacking McCarthy

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower, dealing with questions about Sen. McCarthy's attack on him, declared emphatically today he has no intention of indulging in personal vituperation or quarrels.

The President came up with a crisp no when asked for comment at his news conference on the McCarthy attack on Eisenhower. And, in what he did say later, Eisenhower never did mention McCarthy by name.

In this, the President was sticking to his repeatedly stated policy of refusing to talk about McCarthy as an individual.

The first question put to Eisenhower, at the crowded news conference, dealt with McCarthy's personal attack.

McCarthy yesterday accused the President of a "shrinking show of weakness" toward communism and of tolerance for Reds who torture imprisoned Americans.

A reporter summarized McCarthy's charges and then asked the President whether he cared to comment in view of what the newsmen termed the personal nature of the criticism.

THE REPORTER also asked whether Eisenhower saw any danger to the Republican Party in the McCarthy attack.

After a moment's hesitation, the President shot back briskly that the answer with respect to the first part of the question (whether he cared to comment in view of the personal nature of the criticism) was no.

Eisenhower then added forcefully that he does not intend to indulge in personal vituperation or quarrels.

The President went on to say he always has upheld the right of Congress to conduct investigations, and will continue to do so.

As for the second part of the opening question, whether Eisenhower saw any danger to the Republican Party in the McCarthy attack, the President referred newsmen to Leonard W. Hall, chairman of the Republican National Committee. He suggested they ask Hall, what, in his opinion, the impact will be on the party.

By all signs, McCarthy decided deliberately on a break with the administration. It was no off-the-cuff remark, but a prepared-in-advance statement, when he lashed at the President yesterday.

McCarthy "apologized" to American voters for telling them in the 1952 campaign that election of Eisenhower would guarantee "a vigorous, forceful fight against Communists in government."

"It was mistaken," he declared. Later in the day McCarthy's office announced he had left town for a week or 10 days. His destination was not announced.

'Soviet Bloc' Term Decried By Red Aide

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Soviet Delegate Georgi F. Saksin objected yesterday when U. S. Delegate Ade M. Johnson, of Tacoma, Wash., used the term "Soviet bloc" in debate yesterday.

Saksin said the term might be used by "your so-called press and your senators" but it was not fit for U. N. debate.

"There is no such thing as a Soviet bloc," he said.

U.S. Merchants Say Yule Trade Up

WASHINGTON (AP)—Commerce Department field officers who checked merchants in 33 cities across the country reported that most retailers expect better Christmas sales than a year ago.

Reporting on the survey, Secretary of Commerce Weeks said yesterday that merchants in 25 of the areas checked estimated Christmas sales would top 1953 figures by up to 12 per cent.

The average increase anticipated in the 25 cities was 5 per cent.

President Says His Optimism Now Very High

Chance Of Global Fight Viewed Less Now Than Since January, 1951

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today he believes the fear of a global war is at a lower level now than at any time in the last few years.

The President was asked at his news conference held today he believed the chances of peace are brighter than at any time since he took office two years ago.

Eisenhower said he wanted to differentiate between peace and an armistice, but stated he believes fear of a global war is less now than at any time since he went abroad to head up the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in January, 1951.

The old Indian treaty room where the President traditionally holds news conferences was jammed with more than 200 reporters anxious to question Eisenhower about Sen. McCarthy's charges of weakness against communism.

EISENHOWER refused to make a direct reply, pointing out again that he does not indulge in personal vituperation, but stands for positive things while always upholding the right of Congress to investigate legitimate affairs in the executive branch.

Asked about the statement by Paul M. Butler, the new Democratic national chairman, that Eisenhower lacks the "capacity to lead and unite the American people," the President once again said he was not going to reply to an individual attack directly.

But he declared in a firm voice that he had heard such charges before and that too often politicians look into a looking glass instead of out a window.

Covering many other subjects, the President had these things to say on other matters:

Atoms for peace—Today is the first anniversary of his talk before the United Nations asking an "atoms for peace" international arrangement.

Eisenhower said that at his request Secretary of State Dulles will give out later a record of the things done under that proposal. While they are below expectations, the President added, they constitute a considerable accomplishment.

PROGRAM—On Monday, Eisenhower will meet with Republican congressional leaders to discuss the administration's 1955 program and the necessary changes brought about by experiences this year. The President did not elaborate on the word, "experiences." In the election, last month, the Democrats won control of Congress.

Eisenhower will meet Tuesday with leaders of both parties—chairman and ranking Democrats on Foreign Relations, Armed Services, to go over such things as foreign aid, foreign policy and national security.

Economic aid—The question of a new economic aid program for Asia has not developed far enough to be presented to Eisenhower, but he said that of course some program on foreign economic aid is going to be presented to Congress.

No Trace Found Of Ohio Family

TOKYO (AP)—Japanese Coast Guard officials yesterday said no trace of a small yacht with an Ohio family aboard had been found. Dr. Earl Reynolds, 44, his wife and two children were aboard the craft which left Hiroshima Oct. 8 on a world cruise.

He was a former anthropologist at Antioch College, Yellow Springs, but had recently worked for the Atomic Bomb Casualty Commission at Hiroshima.

Little Backing Is Found For Joe's Attack

den Eisenhower was fighting the Communists quite a few years before Sen. McCarthy made his maiden speech on the subject in the Senate.

Sen. Welker (R-Idaho), who was a floor manager of the McCarthy fight against censure, came closest to endorsement of McCarthy's criticism of Eisenhower.

"I hardly think it is necessary," said Welker, "for the chief executive to be warmly congratulating anyone in this affair."

That was an allusion to this statement by McCarthy: "I find the President, on one hand, congratulates the senators who hold up the work of our (Red-probing) committee and on the other hand urges that we be patient with the Communist hoodlums who, as of this very moment, are torturing and brainwashing American uniformed men in Communist dungeons."

McCarthy, who cut loose with his charges at a meeting of the Senate Investigations subcommittee he heads, was referring to Senators Watkins (R-Utah) and Flanders (R-Vt.).

Watkins headed the special committee which recommended censure of McCarthy. Last Saturday Watkins went to the White House, reportedly at Eisenhower's request and the President congratulated him on "a very splendid job."

Flanders initiated censure charges against McCarthy. The President wrote him early this year and reportedly commended him in connection with a speech assailing McCarthy.

Commenting on McCarthy's criticism of the President, Flanders said McCarthy had "declared political war" and "wishes a split" in the Republican party.

Watkins said: "Sen. McCarthy's attack on the President, Sen. Flanders and myself shows him to be the same irresponsible McCarthy that the Senate by an overwhelming vote condemned last Thursday."

Hoaxer Is Freed

CLEVELAND (AP)—Police have freed Henry W. Fuehrer, 52, who admitted his story of accompanying a "bushy-haired" burglar to the house where Marilyn Sheppard was killed July 4 was a hoax. Officers said Fuehrer was in jail in Knoxville, Tenn., the night of the slaying.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy's attack on President Eisenhower has peeled back the covers at last for all the nation to see what a good many people have known for a long time.

It's been a well-known secret for months hereabouts that Eisenhower didn't have much use for McCarthy, and also that the Wisconsin Republican's esteem for the President could be loaded into an eye dropper with space to spare. Thus McCarthy's scolding criticism of Eisenhower for an alleged "shrinking show of weakness" toward communism comes with no great shock of surprise in many quarters. In fact, an open collision before this seemingly has been dodged only by some fancy verbal footwork on both sides.

In his latest bombshell, McCarthy didn't speak out impulsively or in the heat of debate. He read from a statement prepared before he came to a committee hearing. He was well aware of the import of the words he was to speak.

The unusual thing about the statement was that McCarthy assailed Eisenhower personally, and not merely the administration. Several times in past months, McCarthy has sharply criticized the administration. But these assaults have been softened with kind words for the President himself.

Privately, McCarthy left it be known he didn't think much of Eisenhower and his policies in dealing with the Communists.

On the other side, House aides deliberately and frequently have advised reporters they wouldn't be wrong if they said the President didn't like either McCarthy or his methods. But the reporter was to let this be known without revealing the source of information.

This sort of veiled situation has existed for months. Eisenhower has referred to McCarthy obliquely in his press conference in critical terms but he always has refrained from "engaging in personalities" with the use of the senator's name. There existed a sort of armed truce in the area of public name calling.

Then Eisenhower gave his congratulations to Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) for a job well done as chairman of the Senate committee which recommended censure of McCarthy. In return, McCarthy blasted Eisenhower by name.

Some of McCarthy's colleagues think the senator lashes out blindly in his attacks against anyone who gets in his path. They profess to see no pattern of long-range motive in his actions.

There are others who are convinced McCarthy has a definite goal, either that he wants to be president of the United States or

50 Attend Cattle Feeders Meeting

Fifty Pickaway County cattle feeders attended the group's county meeting at Williamsport. A tour of five farms was held prior to the meeting.

Hewitt Cromley, of Ashville Route 2, was elected to represent Pickaway County in the Ohio Cattle Feeders Association. Selmar Lehman, of Lockbourne Route 1, was named assistant representative to the association. Hewitt announced that the annual winter meeting of the Ohio Cattle Feeders Association would be held Feb. 23.

Jim Warner, extension specialist at Ohio State University, spoke at the meeting on some of the feeder cattle problems.

George Zeis, Columbus farm writer, was present at the meeting and gave a short report on the International Livestock Show, held in Chicago. Farms visited on the tour included properties of Frank Mace on the Defenbaugh farm, Graves and Weldon, Lloyd Drummond, and the Bennett farm.

The group plans another tour of the same farms on March 25.

SALT CREEK

By Vera Hinton

Recently Salt Creek High School students held their third class meetings with the presidents in charge. Plans are being made for class projects.

Members. They are Shirley Winland from Logan and Joyce Gaines from Circleville. The Sophomores recently finished their annual magazine subscription sale. The Juniors have received their class rings. They are conducting a Christmas card sale which is proving very profitable.

The Seniors presented their class play, "Who Wouldn't Be Crazy," to a large crowd.

Honor Roll for the 2nd six-week period is as follows:

Sophomore—None.

Juniors: Patty Woodward.

else he wants to become a third force in American politics with such power that he can influence the choice of a president.

McCarthy himself denies any such political ambition and places his motives on the high plateau of patriotism.

But at least this much has become apparent in the situation: A false front has been removed from the Eisenhower-McCarthy relationship by the senator himself. Now there can be no mistake about it. Everybody knows where the two men stand in relation to each other.

Hal Boyle Says:Kids Smarter Than Adults

NEW YORK (AP)—It has always been my contention that children are more intelligent than grown-ups.

One sign of intelligence is the ability to get what you really need or want out of life.

And the Christmas season is the time when the kids best show their mental superiority over adults in this respect. A child knows exactly the presents he wants, and he knows the right technique for getting them.

The little boys and girls get out their school pads and pencils and write letters such as the following:

"Dear Santa Claus,
"I am a little girl just a few years old. Boy, have I been a good girl. I ben so good my mommy says if she had another little girl just like me she wouldn't know what to do.

"I wanna bike and pigtales and a new dress and police don't bring me no more dolls on account I already got more dolls than a store.

oug littul fren,
Rosebud O'Hara."

On Christmas day Rosebud and her pal next door, Butch Rosen-cranz, compare the loot.

"Sure, I got 'zactly what I wanted," brags Rosebud. "Don't you think my daddy can read plain writing?"

"I thought you ast for pigtales —you ain't got no pigtales," objects Butch.

"Silly, I knew there wasn't time to grow pigtales 'fore Christmas," says Rosebud. "I jus' put that in about the pigtales so they'd be surr to get me the bike. That's what I really wanted."

It is this striking innocence about children that pays off. They have faith. Grownups are only older children with ulcers, and they get the ulcers because they are frustrated, and it is their own fault usually that they are frustrated.

They have lost faith. They pretend they aren't mad when they don't get what they want for Christmas, but they really are hurt, and they sulk inside.

The real reason they often don't get what they want is because they are so dumb. Any child realizes Santa Claus has to be told what to bring. But silly grownups make their secret secret Christmas wishes and keep them to themselves. Then they get angry because Santa Claus hasn't been able to read their mind.

Here is what an adult should do. He should sit down and write a letter as follows:

"Dear Santa Claus,
"I am just a poor tired grown-up. But I've been a good boy all year. I never have got what I wanted for Christmas.
"This year I'd like to. I want some gloves, size 10, and some shirts with regular collars (neck 15½, sleeves 33), and a pair of black shoes (size 10-C), and a blue camel's hair coat (size 42 regular), a sailboat with an outboard motor, an aqualung, a one-man submarine, a new car (any size), and any spare cash you got lying around.

"Your big friend,
"Roscoe McFuddle."

Don't address this letter to the North Pole. Make 100 copies. Send one copy to your wife, 49 to your favorite friends and enemies, and the other 50 to people picked at random who have a high rating in Dun & Bradstreet.

How do you know it won't work?

A friend of mine tried it. He wrote a Santa Claus letter—and sent it to 100 ladies listed in a social directory—saying, "I am just a lonely balding bachelor with high principles who, once in his life, would like to have a beautiful girl take him out to dinner on Christmas." Well, it didn't turn out quite as he expected. He had hoped for a beautiful young blonde.

"Nobody showed up but a wealthy widow," he confessed. "But I certainly don't feel I wasted my stamp money."

The main thing for grownups to remember is this: If you really have faith in Santa Claus, and go to the trouble of letting him know what you want—well, he'll do the best he can.

Downs, of near Rockbridge, pleaded innocent to the charge by reason of insanity. He also was indicted for arson.

Ohioan Making Rail Cushions

ASHTABULA (AP)—Someday you may not be able to hear the train go clickety-clack.

Nelson K. Moses, a former fireman and engineer, predicts trains of the future will ride on rubber-cushioned rails. He is so convinced, he quit the railroad and opened a plant that makes rubber rail cushions.

He expects to sell $150,000 worth

this year. That's more than 20 times the gross business he did in 1951, when he opened shop, and he believes the business is still in its infancy.

The cushions he makes now go between the plate and the tie and between the plate and the rail.

Ross County Gets Third Treasurer

CHILLICOTHE (AP)—Ross County will get its third treasurer in a month Dec. 16.

Russell M. Friend, presently a deputy county treasurer, will take over from Thomas J. Hughes, who had held the office only since November, and who resigned Monday.

Hughes, an accountant, was appointed Ross County treasurer after Treas. William F. Immell resigned Nov. 8 when County Prosecutor Robert Purdue accused him of embezzling $2,247 following a state examiner's report.

Immell and Hughes are Democrats, Friend a Republican.

Frozen Swans Freed From Ice

BONE CITY, Mich. (AP)—Two swans who long have made their home on a local mill pond were caught by a surprise cold wave yesterday and frozen into the ice.

One swan finally squirmed loose with the aid of warm sun and a police and conservation department rescue party. The other wiggled out 10 minutes later.

Vote Machine Enthusiasm Up After Recount

Tabulating Errors Shown To Be Fewer Where Gadget Used

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Voting machine proponents got a big boost from Ohio's record election recount.

Officials in counties using the machines reported they cut tabulating errors to a minimum and speeded returns.

"I'd like to see all metropolitan cities equipped with voting machines," said Secretary of State Ted W. Brown, Ohio's chief elections official. "It would guarantee correct results and eliminate the need for recounts."

Brown made his observations upon certifying results of the U.S. Senatorial race recount in 25 of Ohio's 88 counties.

The recount cut Republican George H. Bender's 6,041 victory margin over U.S. Sen. Thomas A. Burke (D-Ohio) to 2,918 votes in the Nov. 2 election. The Bender-Burke race was for the final two years of the late GOP Sen. Robert A. Taft's term.

Except for apparent fraud in one county, Brown said the recount uncovered only human errors in tabulating more than 2½ million senatorial votes.

But only one error was reported in the recount of voting machine totals, Brown said. That resulted from a transposition of figures in transferring totals from a voting machine to election board work sheets, he explained.

Only four of the counties recounted used voting machines and of those four only Ross used them county-wide.

The Ross County recount of voting machine totals showed no change from official election figures. Burke gained two votes in the county that resulted from transfer to Burke of an absent voter ballot originally credited to Bender.

Franklin, Mahoning and Richland were the other counties in the recount making partial use of voting machines. All three use both machines and paper ballots. Officials reported the recount of paper ballots was slow compared with that of machines.

A total of 12 Ohio counties now use voting machines. Brown said voting machines cost from $1,200 to $1,400 each. But manufacturers claim they will more than pay for themselves through salary savings and other economies.

Polling places equipped with voting machines require only four election workers, Brown said. Those using paper ballots require at least six during voting hours. Some counties use two crews for each precinct. Daytime crews have at least six workers and night crews at least four.

Other counties use only one large crew but workers sometimes require up to 20 hours after polls close to complete their paper ballot count. Brown said the long hours make it difficult to obtain precinct workers.

"Voting machines permit precinct officials to report to county election boards promptly instead of working for up to 20 hours longer to tabulate paper ballots," Brown said. "After the polls close, precinct officials can take totals from the voting machines as fast as figures be read off and entered on work sheets."

The secretary of state said most voters should be able to cast machine ballots in less than a min-

Second Crash Proves Costly

LEVAN, Utah (AP) — George Floyd Hanna of Provo hit a slick spot on the road Tuesday, as he drove along U.S. Highway 91.

His car flipped completely over and landed on its wheels. Inspecting the damage, Hanna, 32, counted himself lucky. All he could find was a broken radiator hose.

So Hanna pulled the car off the road and hiked the mile-and-a-half into Levan for a new hose.

While he was gone, 57-year-old R. M. Allred of Utah's Emery County hit the same slick spot and smashed into Hanna's parked car.

When Hanna returned with his new radiator hose, he learned it would take a little more to make his car run again.

Highway Trooper E. C. Sherwood estimated it would take about $500 more.

Denver Folks Help Governor Find His Dog

DENVER (AP) — There's only one Zip, Gov. Dan Thornton wants the nice people of Denver to know, and he's been found.

Zip, a golden retriever, strayed from the governor's quarters last week but was recovered a few days later after stories about him appeared in the papers.

Trouble is, there are more dog-gone dogs that look like Zip in Denver than anyone knew. And most of them have been brought to Thornton's door by well-meaning citizens the last few days.

One gent called with a golden retriever under his arm yesterday. Told the real Zip had returned, the caller told Thornton he'd taken a taxi all the way across town to return the pup. The governor dug into his pocket and paid the cab fare.

LET THEM WALK

HARDLY A DAY passes that the news does not include at least one story of wanton murder somewhere in the nation. Many of these crimes are committed by youths who have been picked up by kind-hearted motorists. To obtain his car, or for no reason at all, a victim is murdered in cold blood.

One youth, captured after an especially cruel murder, said he shot the man because "he gave me a dirty look."

Marked for early capture because they are driving the victim's car, the reward for such crimes is either the electric chair or life imprisonment. Which leaves society at a loss for an explanation of their actions. It can hardly be possible American youths regard human life as of no value.

Motorists should make it an inflexible rule to pass up all hitchhikers. If this plan is universally followed itinerants will leave the highways, and the number of murders will be reduced. As a rule such persons are merely on the loose. Let them walk.

MATTER OF DEFINITION

RUSSIA'S INCREASING interest in America's atoms-for-peace plan raises to a new notch of intensity the debate now raging over the meaning and significance of the term, peaceful coexistence.

If the Soviets, after considerable heel dragging, decide to align themselves with the program of spreading peaceable atomic know-how around the world, it will signal a new chapter in free and red world relations. Thus the burning question of the moment is, what are Moscow's intentions when it talks hopefully about peaceful coexistence.

The consensus is that the reds, as is their custom, have seized upon an appealing half truth in the hopes of accomplishing a short-term objective to block the ratification of Western European Union and German rearmament.

"WRIGHTEOUS" WRATH

FAMED ARCHITECT Frank Lloyd Wright is quitting his native Wisconsin in Wrighteous indignation. The 85-year-old dean of radical architecture sees red because the state supreme court held that Taliesin, Wright's world renowned architectural school, is not an educational institution and hence is subject to taxation. But it's the principle that worries him. "They say I am conducting a business instead of a cultural endeavor," he says in an agitated tone.

So the man who has astounded the world by his adherence to his own standards for more than half a century is pulling up stakes. He's stripping the tile roofs from his buildings. In this way, he explains, he will leave merely masses of stone as a memorial to his pioneer ancestors who first claimed the ground, and preventing the buildings from being "degraded by non-sympathetic occupation."

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

The mail grows increasingly heavy with volunteer movements designed to kill off opposing sects. It is not only Communists who are to be destroyed but also anti-Communists. Here I hold two circular letters, one is by Brigadier General Herbert C. Holdridge, U.S.A., Retired. He writes from Sherman Oaks, California, and he is after the Pope. General Holdridge says:

"... It should be clear by this time to each of you that McCarthy does not represent himself alone, but that he is merely the front for forces of tremendous potential for the subversion of our government, even to its overthrow by force and violence. I refer to the Vatican, headed by the Pope in Rome, to its Hierarchy and blind followers in the United States, and to all of those who have been drawn to the banner of 'McCarthyism.'"

Toward the end of a long diatribe, he states:

"... The fight has only begun. The United States is still largely a non-Roman Catholic country. The spirit of our Founding Fathers, who left Europe to escape from this very force of violence against human freedom which again raises its head in our country, is still alive in their hearts. They will surely find a means to eliminate this alien power once and for all."

General Holdridge also has issued a copy of a letter he sent to President Eisenhower which states, among other things: "He (the Pope), and his predecessors before him, have repudiated every freedom written into the Bill of Rights of our Constitution. His very presumption of a monopoly over Almighty God — a concept accepted and implemented by his followers — stands as a constant threat to freedom of religion within the United States, as established by our Constitution."

Now let's look at a circular that comes from Bethel, Vermont and is captioned "The Green Mountain Rifleman." The title of the article is "The Jew Schultz Haughtily Tries to Banish Gerald L. K. Smith." The reference is to Rabbi Benjamin Schultz of the American Jewish League Against Communism. The opening paragraph may be enough to show that Manuel and Lucille Miller, "Directors Of Action-Strategy, The National Patrick Henry Organization, Inc.," have to say:

"Rabbi Benjamin Schultz and his friends, having pushed their way up to the side of McCarthy, now demand that Gerald L. K. Smith and his friends should get them hence as unworthy of such august company. Schultz is starting a string of million dollar law suits against everybody who says he ever even spoke to Smith, so unclean does he deem Smith to be."

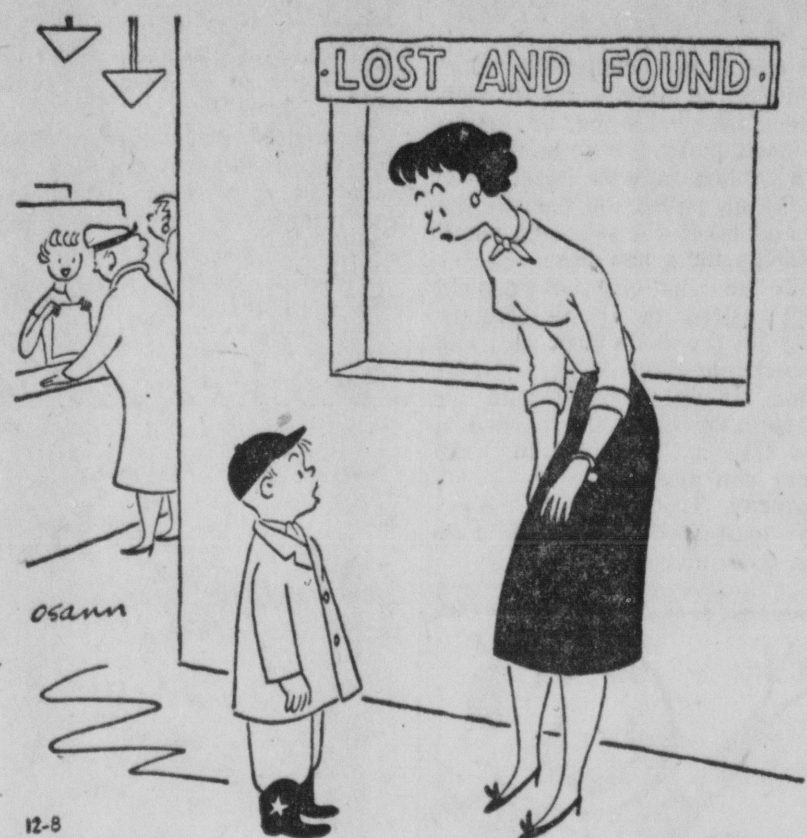

"Fulton Lewis also hastened to remind us that he never spoke to Smith either except that time 15 or 20 years ago when he had the misfortune to find himself in the same dining car with Smith. We wonder if Fulton will live long enough to regret his slobbering defense of Anna Rosenberg half as much as he regrets the hello he accidentally let slip out to Gerald L. K. Smith."

Perhaps I should change my mind and give you another, the last paragraph of this stuff:

"To those who wall that factionalism is rearing its ugly head, we reply that the Schultz Jews started this so the Smith Nationalist will finish it. If Schultz can't endure being in the same crowd with Smith, let Schultz himself leave, but he had better hurry or there will be footprints on the back of his rabbinical robe. Us Right Wingers may be rough cattle but we aren't going to wear the Jewish Circle-U brand."

Know the Antidotes For Common Poisons

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

THE moment you suspect your child has been accidentally poisoned, try to find out what he swallowed.

If he is unable to tell you, look for some clue. Often you will find an overturned bottle or jar near where he was playing.

Give an Antidote

When you know what he has taken, give him an antidote at once.

The following is a list of common poisons and suggested antidotes for them:

Poisons: Acids: hydrochloric, sulphuric, nitric, oxalic (usually found in dip-type silver cleaners and other strong cleaning compounds).

Antidotes: Four ounces of magnesium to one pint of water, or white soap suds, or large amounts of soapy water, or milk with beaten egg whites, or even white-wash scraped from a fence or a wall if nothing else is available.

Poison: Alcohol.

Antidote: Hot coffee.

Poisons: Alkalies (usually found in cleaning fluids, shampoos and home hair-waving lotions).

Antidotes: Vinegar and water in equal parts, or citrus fruit juices, such as lemon juice. Then follow with white of an egg, or milk and flour, or olive oil or melted butter.

Poisons: Ammonia, lye, drain cleaners, washing soda, caustic soda, caustic lime, quicklime, potash.

Antidotes: Lemon or grapefruit juice, or one part vinegar to three parts water, as much as the child will drink.

Do not force vomiting in such cases. It is likely to injure the stomach.

Poisons: Arsenic, Paris green.

Antidotes: Tablespoon of hydrated iron oxide made by mixing ammonia and iron chloride every half hour for a total of four doses. Then raw eggs and flour.

Poisons: Bedbug poisons.

Antidotes: Egg whites, flour and water.

Poison: Carbolic acid.

Antidotes: One ounce of epsom salts in half a pint of water, raw eggs and milk, or a quarter pint of olive oil to a pint of water.

Poisons: Chlorhydrate or knockout drops.

Antidote: Coffee by mouth and by rectum.

Poisons: Gasoline or kerosene.

Antidotes: Salad oil or milk.

Poison: Iodine.

Antidotes: Tablespoon of sodium thiosulfate (photographic hypo) in water, or starch paste followed by a tablespoon of salt in a glass of warm water. Then milk or white of an egg beaten with water.

Poisons: Opium, morphine.

Antidote: Hot coffee by mouth or rectum.

Poison: Phosphorus.

Antidotes: Magnesia or milk in milk. Keep all oils and fats out of the diet for several days because they often speed up absorption of phosphorus.

Emptying the stomach promptly is even more important than administering an antidote. I'll tell you how to go about this tomorrow.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

B. N.: I have a sore and red raw throat all the time. I have had this for a couple of years. What would cause this trouble?

Answer: Sore throat may be due to some type of infection. It also may come from certain nerve disorders. Sometimes material dripping from the nose into the throat produces a long-continued irritation.

Leland Hayward, now one of the country's leading producers (South Pacific, Mr. Roberts, etc.), made his debut into Hollywood way as an agent—and a mighty shrewd one, too. Last year he was bent on acquiring a certain property for a screen play, but objected vigorously to the price tag of $75,000 agent Irving Lazar had put on it.

"Irving," implored Hayward, "who taught you to be such a brazen robber anyway?" Lazar answered, quite truthfully, "You did!"

SYNOPSIS
If the three heirs to old Josh Trevitt's sizable estate New York form on it for at least three months after his death, each will inherit one-third of the land. Those leaving sooner must relinquish their share or shares to those remaining. Final resident to be awarded the entire farm. So when old Josh died, his kin were notified and copies of his will mailed them. In the late spring, we find Jennie Todd, an inheritor, a spinster, at the Trevitt place, making ready her quarters in the rambling old farmhouse, and being assisted by Wick Middleton, executor of the Trevitt estate. Cindy Todd, a pretty little motherless teen-ager, joins her Aunt Jenny at the farm, to file claim for her "missing" father's share of the land. She's disappointed at finding this aunt a timid soul, but her day brightens when she meets with Gary Norbeck, who has been assigned a wooded acre on the place. Then with much flair, beneficiary Hester Wilmar arrives accompanied by her daughter Enid. Hester finds everything about the place distasteful, but schemes to win the major land award. And as this wilderness is no place for the daughter of a socially ambitious mother, Hester plans to speed Enid off to Europe.

CHAPTER TWELVE
STEPPING back from his easel to study his work of the morning, Gary Norbeck gave voice to a sharp sound of anger. These eyes he had painted were not Cindy's, young, candid, innocent of guile; they were Ursula's—the mouth, full-lipped, lifting at one corner, was Ursula's. With some violence he threw down his brush. Was his brother's wife still so much a part of him that his hands portrayed her without his willing?
He had finished painting in the background yesterday, had thought he had done it well—that the canvas might be good enough to send to Arturo Bressi, the art dealer in Boston with whom he had become well acquainted a few years ago. Today he had done the slender figure, the uplifted head, the face. . . .
And now, this, Ursula, challenging him with eyes and mouth.
He strode down the length of the room, shaken by disgust at himself. To have held her in his memory, yet knowing what she was. . . . A knowledge that had come slowly and in the end had driven him to hide her in this out-of-the-way spot, not only from Ursula, but from the man he had let himself become. A betrayer of those instincts of honor and loyalty that were his by upbringing and heritage. A killer—if not in the eyes of the law, in his own. His arm had been raised to strike Alec, his brother—he had been too blinded with fury to know that his grandfathers had come into the room, had thrown himself between them, until he saw the old man crumple to the floor. Whether he actually had struck his grandfather or not had not mattered. The doctor had pronounced it a heart attack, but he was dead, the gentle, loving man who had been father and mother to him. . . .
Back to him rushed the memory of that night after his grandfather's funeral when he had walked out from his home in Salem, a fugitive, carrying no more than the least he needed for decency in appearance. A floorboard in the upstairs hall must have creaked under his step—when he reached the lower hall Ursula, who with Alec was staying at the house until the funeral services were over, was behind him, a thin robe thrown over her nightgown. She had whispered: "Gary, where are you going at this hour?" He had moved on toward the door and she had run after him, flung her arms around him, holding him motionless, pressed her face, her body, against him. "Gary, don't go! We'll find ways. . . . Alec has to go out of town next week. . . . Her soft mouth had lifted to his. He remembered how he had flung her from him, so violently that, but for the newel post at which she caught, she must have fallen to the floor. And he remembered her soft laugh as he opened the door. "I'll find you, darling!" She might, he had known, if he rode Pullman trains, registered at hotels, so he had walked through that night and the next day, and the next, over any road as long as it was unfrequented, stopping nights in obscure houses with "Tourists" signs hung out.

Then the storm, the fever burning in him, the lights of a farmhouse and old Jehosaphat opening the door. "Come in, come in, young fellow! You're soaking wet! You're shivering like a leaf!" Warned blankets, warming drinks and the old man's rough hands fussing over him.

Before he was able to be up and around winter had set in. "Might as well stay here, son, if you've no place in mind to go. Makes it company for me." He had stayed. Jehosaphat had asked him no questions as to where he had come from or where he was headed for that stormy night. Jehosaphat probably had taken it for granted that he was without home or family. As he was. There had been plenty of work for him to do for the old man and he had liked doing it. He had money enough with him to share the expenses of their simple living. Spring had come, and old Josh had said: "Mebbe you'd like to move on, son. Young fellows get restless, I know. Though I'd sort of hate to see you go. I'd miss you." He could not go, after that. He had sent for painting materials, books, subscribed to magazines and newspapers. The summer before Jehosaphat had urged him to build the cabin. "It'd be a nice place for you to come to do your pictures."

A girl appeared in the open doorway with a suddenness that made Gary think crazily she was Ursula Thiel. The green slacks she wore—Ursula almost always wore green, the green of her eyes. Then with a sharp relief he saw that this girl's eyes were blue. "I'm sorry. . . ." She said it quickly with some embarrassment as if she had interrupted him in some very private occupation. "I stopped to ask—how does one get to the other side of this creek? I crossed it on a bridge farther down but I can't find any place up here."

"There's a shallow stretch and a deep one," Gary said. "I'll show you." She walked toward the door but at the door she paused, looked at him over her shoulder. "I take it you've met Cindy but why don't you come up to the farmhouse and meet the rest of the family—Aunt Jennie and my mother? After all, we're all here together—we should be at least on speaking terms. It's all fantastic enough as it is!" She smiled. "It'd be nice if some day you would cut the grass—there's no one else, and it bothers mother. She likes everything to look tidy." With that she went out of the door and along the path toward the creek.

news behind the news

WASHINGTON—A vivid illustration of the Eisenhower Administration's publicity blunders and shortsightedness, as well as the explanation therefore, was provided during Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey's recent trip to Rio de Janeiro to attend the economic conference in the Brazilian capital.

Humphrey was originally scheduled to fly to Miami on a regular commercial plane, going by coach because a ship of that type fitted into his schedule better than first-class facilities. In accordance with standard practice, the airline had arranged for publicity for its distinguished passenger during the 41-minute stop-over at Miami.

Newspapermen, television and radio people were alerted, and they were only too willing, for Humphrey is one of the most important and likable members of the presidential household. Florida Republicans cooperated because they have hopes, with the help of immigrants from the north, of transforming this state into a Republican captive.

CANCELED—Almost overnight, these elaborate preparations were canceled. They were curtailed, not by Secretary Humphrey, but by Nils Lennartson, his assistant in charge of information and publicity. He announced curtly that Humphrey and the other five officials in his party would fly to Miami on a Coast Guard plane.

It should be noted here that Lennartson, like so many publicity figures in the Eisenhower camp, is a Roosevelt-Truman holdover. He served with the National Production Board, and then shifted to the Pentagon as press agent for Stuart Symington when the latter was secretary for air.

Symington is now a Democratic senator from Missouri, and he is frequently mentioned as a presidential candidate for 1956.

Humphrey, politically naive and new to Washington, engaged Lennartson soon after taking office.

NO INTERVIEW—As a result of the cancellation, here is almost all the publicity (one short paragraph omitted because it is repetitious) which the Secretary of the Treasury got in the Miami Herald of Nov. 19.

"Humphrey Well-heeled," read the headline, over the following story:

"Judging from the number of Secret Service men, Secretary George M. Humphrey must have been carrying the United States mint with him when he arrived in Miami Thursday night."

"During his 41-minute stay, the Treasury Secretary and his party were guarded by an estimated 50 Secret Service men and other law enforcement officers."

"A request for an interview, relayed by a P. A. A. official through a Secret Service man, was refused."

RILED—Obviously, from the tone of the article, the Miami press was riled. Humphrey will not make friends for the Eisenhower Administration or the Republican party that way—unlike

Vice-President Nixon, other cabinet members and Ike himself. Their press agents are both smart and Republican-minded.

Nor will the Treasury Secretary balance the budget with this kind of a performance. The commercial fare for his party of six—one way—would have amounted to $268.80. To fly a two-engine Coast Guard plane from Washington to Miami and return costs $1,508.26.

INSTANCE—Attorney General Herbert C. Brownell Jr.'s friends are complaining of a publicity incident involving him. Here, again, the responsible official was a Truma holdover in the Department of Justice, whose office prepared the report reviewing recent departmental activities. His name is Fred Mullen.

The document refers to James P. McGranery 48 times, and to Brownell only 30 times. McGranery, a fiery Philadelphia Democrat, was a former member of Congress and Truman's last attorney general.

Home Demonstration Clubs Present Hospitality Fare

12 County Clubs Assist At Meet

"Christmas Hospitality Fare" was the theme for an annual cooperative December project by the County Home Demonstration Clubs. St. Philip's Episcopal Parish Hall was the scene of this session, which was well attended by members and friends of the 12 clubs.

There were three phases of hospitality on exhibit throughout the afternoon: (1) Seasonal decorations such as table, mantle, and door arrangements, place favors, and tree trimmings which make the home beautiful and anti-cipitation keen; (2) Homemade sweets which seem important in any hospitality; and (3) The homemakers through whose ingenuity and power home-made hospitality is made possible.

Members of each club brought exhibits and cooperated in baking the large variety of cookies for the refreshment table. The generous food exhibit was shared with the County Home and two of Circleville's Rest Homes—thus extending the hospitality theme.

Observation, registration, and fellowship were the opening and closing features of the program. Mrs. Ralph Dennis accompanied by Mrs. Lyle Ingman, led group singing and sang a solo "Christmas." Mrs. Carl Seethorn gave a demonstration on decorations for a mantle with possible quick and easy variations of each.

By illustration as well as cost and method description, Mrs. James Hott showed that one can have a clever and attractive table decoration home grown and made, or one, still clever and attractive, which is made from "bought" materials.

Mrs. Donald Miller displayed and elaborated on a number of ingenious decorations for door ways as well as the "practical" mistletoe or kissing ball or ring. She explained in detail their economy and method of construction.

The Home Demonstration Agent, Mrs. Leora Sayre, gave a review of exhibits and recognized the strength and efficiency of home demonstrated hospitality. Mrs. Richard Swenson, wife of the new County Agriculture Agent, was introduced and responded with greetings.

During the closing refreshment period, Mrs. William Defenbaugh and Mrs. Dorsey Bumgarner, past Home Council presidents, poured tea from a table laden with home demonstrations of Home Made Sweets.

Mrs. Loring Stoe, Home Council secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. Lyle Davis were general chairmen for the event. Mrs. Leslie Dearth, Home Council president, and Mrs. Charles Van Pelt were reception and registration chairmen. Mrs. Charles Hissey and Mrs. Cecil Ward were hostess chairmen for the homemade sweets exhibit.

Mrs. Homer Peters and Mrs. Hoyt Timmons were hostess chairmen for the hospitality decorations. The refreshment committee included: Mrs. Jesse Peart, Mrs. Russell Yable, Mrs. Clyde Karshner, and Mrs. Wendell Neff.

DUV Tent Will Host Daughters At Dinner Party

Plans were made for an annual Daughters Day dinner when Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War held a regular meeting Tuesday evening in the Post Room of Memorial Hall.

Mrs. B. M. Wignell presided at the business session, when the group voted to entertain their daughters at a dinner party at 6:30 p. m. Dec. 15 in the Court and Main Restaurant.

A Christmas program will follow the dinner, and a fifty cent gift exchange will be held.

During the session the tent charter was draped in memory of Mrs. Minnie Morris Barnes. The members voted to contribute to the TB Christmas Seal campaign.

Mrs. E. L. Tolbert gave a report of a meeting of District 6 of the DUV, which she attended in Lancaster. Mrs. Tolbert took a prominent part in the program of the district meeting. During the session, she presented a hand-painted portrait of General Grant to the Sherman Memorial in Lancaster in behalf of the local tent.

Mrs. Wignell will serve as hostess to the next meeting of the group on Jan. 4 in her home at 409 N. Court St.

Bible Class Has Christmas Meet In Moats Home

Christmas symbols formed the decorations in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Moats of Northridge Rd. Tuesday evening for a meeting of the M and M Bible Class of the Gospel Center Church.

The session opened with Scripture reading of the Christmas story by Mrs. Russell Goodman and prayer, led by Mr. Goodman.

Following a short business session, the group gathered around the organ and sang Christmas carols to the accompaniment of Mrs. Robert George.

Seasonal refreshments were served by the hostess at the close of the evening.

A New Years party has been planned for the next meeting on Jan. 4. The Rev. and Mrs. L. S. Metzler will serve as hosts for the event, which will feature a covered dish dinner. Mrs. Ralph Long will assist Mrs. Metzler as hospitality chairmen.

A. J. Dunkle Heads Council

The Stage Pond Council held a regular monthly session in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gail Hanover of near Ashville.

For the ensuing year, A. J. Dunkle was elected chairman and Charles VanPelt, discussion leader.

The program for the evening centered on a discussion of "Organization for Peace," with a presentation of the contributions made by United Appeals, Korean Relief, the United Nations, CARE and CROP.

Refreshments were served during a social hour. The next meeting held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Dunkle.

Legion Auxiliary To Fete Veterans

The members of the American Legion Auxiliary will assemble at 6:30 p. m. Monday at the Legion Home to go to Chillicothe, where they will conduct a Christmas party for two wards in the Veterans Hospital.

Mrs. Stanley Peters is receiving donations for the party on Saturday and Sunday in her home at 313 S. Court St.

Daughters Host Birthday Fete For Mrs. Ritt

Mrs. Anna Ritt of W. Union St. was honored by her three daughters with a birthday dinner held in the Pickaway Arms.

The table, decorated in a holiday theme, was centered with a traditional birthday cake. Hostesses for the event were Mrs. Seyford Betz of Manito Beach, Mich.; Mrs. J. R. Stratton of Salem and Mrs. Cecil Kerr of Lancaster, who, with their families, were houseguests of Mrs. Ritt.

Those present for the dinner included: Mrs. Ritt, honored guest, Mr. Betz and son, John; Mr. Stratton and children, Marilyn and John; Patty and Linda Kerr; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cassell of Ft. Wayne, Ind.; Marvin Jennings and Miss Betty Clutts of Columbus; Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Clutts of Greensboro, N. C.; Fred Cook of Ashville; Mrs. Charles Rife of Circleville, and the hostesses.

Holiday Guest Meet Held By Deercreek Garden Club

One of the highlights of the holiday season for members of the Deercreek Garden Club was a Christmas meeting held in the Williamsport parish house.

Guest night was observed during the event. A total of 81 members and guests included members of the Clarksburg, Solana, Monrovia, Circleville and Mud Daubers Garden Clubs; the Commercial Point Junior Garden club, and several ladies of Williamsport and the community.

The hospitality committee for the evening was: Mrs. Estella Johnson, Mrs. Paul Counts, Mrs. I. Smith Hulse and Mrs. Bertha Porter.

The meeting opened with group singing of carols. Mrs. Mary S. McGhee of Clarksburg at the piano served as accompanist. Mrs. John West of Williamsport was welcomed into the club as a new member.

The club president, Mrs. Ted F. Corcoran presented Mrs. L. D. Howe of the Mud Daubers Club of Chillicothe as guest speaker and demonstrator for the evening. Mrs. Howe used as her topic, "Christmas Arrangements". She illustrated her lecture with many arrangements and original ideas.

Arrangements in keeping with a Yule theme were on display by members of the club and formed the decorations for the event. Mrs. Bertha Porter was in charge of decorations for the refreshment table, which was centered with a Christmas arrangement.

Hostesses for the evening were: Mrs. Melvin Long, Mrs. James

Greenwood, Mrs. H. H. Stevens and the officers, Mrs. Corcoran, Mrs. Paul Counts, Mrs. Omer Lemming, Miss Carolyn L. Bochar and Mrs. Walter Wright. This committee was assisted by Mrs. Fred J. Corcoran, Mrs. Hulse and Mrs. Russell Wardell.

The next meeting of the club will be held at 8 p. m. Jan. 6 in the parish house. Mrs. Paul Counts, program leader for the evening, will introduce Miss Helen Huffman of near Kingston, who will speak on "Winter Bouquets and Arrangements."

Each member is asked to bring a Winter bouquet for the flower show. Hostesses will be: Mrs. Lemming, Mrs. Charles Smiley, Miss Bertha Jones, Mrs. Frank Carter and Miss Lena Schein.

Traffic Jams Getting Eye Of Engineers

Electronic Apparatus Being Used To Solve Movement Of Vehicles

NEW YORK (AP)—It's a bigger Christmas in traffic jams, too. More traffic in store aisles means more tie-ups on the streets—and there are more cars than ever this year to get stuck at intersections.

Electronic engineers are busily tackling the traffic officer's problems. First they thought up use of radar to clock speedsters on the open stretches of streets and highways.

Next, in spots where traffic sometimes only crawls, if that, electronics thought up a scheme of using radar to report changes in volume of approaching traffic and to time the red lights accordingly. Now the engineers are coming up with still another idea — using those mechanical brains you've read about and seen on television to clock and map changing traffic conditions and then more or less automatically change traffic signals over whole sections of the cities to accommodate sudden and unpredictable shifts in the flow of traffic, or such jams as occur at shift-changing time at factories.

If you've any doubt that traffic jams are getting worse, look at these statistics: The total number of miles traveled each year by motor vehicles has increased five-fold in the last 30 years, according to the Bureau of Public Roads and the Automobile Manufacturers Assn. But the physical volume of work done on the roads has only doubled. Result: More jams and overheated radiators.

The President's highway building program, to be submitted to the new Congress, will tackle the problem between cities. But the city's traffic load is still a headache. And there's where electronic engineers want to try both radar and mechanical brains to make traffic signals flexible rather than set.

The automatic signal division of Eastern Industries at Norwalk, Conn., is offering what it calls an electro-matic master cycle and offset selector system. This is an electronic computing gadget only 19 inches long, 7 inches high and 12 inches deep.

The gadget receives a steady stream of traffic information, mechanically reported from many intersections, which it flies in its gears say the device then automatically determines the most efficient operating pattern for the traffic signals to which it is connected.

When the volume of traffic from the East suddenly swells, traffic signals are turned to let it through the intersection. As northbound traffic volume builds up, the signals are changed to clear it and speed it on its way.

Engineers say the computer is set to disregard sharp swings, however, but rather to determine constantly the average volumes and compute the most efficient signal changes.

The gadget has a panel of meters and lights to give a centrally located traffic engineer a picture of what traffic is doing on key streets over a wide section of the city, if desired. There are control knobs and dials to permit him to set up a master signal pattern.

Electronic engineers claim it isn't as complicated as it sounds. The chief argument is that under the traffic systems widely used now, a master time clock sets a schedule of traffic light to fit an expected flow of cars.

SEAMAN Kyle Y. Ridaught, a descendant of a Florida Indian chief, may be in line for $300,920 from the United States Government. His claim is based on land grant signed by Gen. Andrew Jackson which was recently discovered in the family Bible. It gives the Ridaught Band of Florida Indians 1,751,000 acres of land in Florida. A petition filed with the Indian Claims Commission is asking the Government to pay the survivors of the Ridaught Band $1.25 for each acre, with interest at 5% for each year since 1914. Ridaught is stationed at the Great Lakes (Ill.) Naval Base. (International) driving whims send a rush of cars into one street and in one direction. Result: Either you can't get across an intersection, or you wait schedule of traffic light to fit an expected flow of cars.

This is fine until changing weather, special events, or just plain driving whims send a rush of cars into one street and in one direction. Result: Either you can't get across an intersection, or you wait and wait for the light to change, without another car in sight.

Viet Nam Sees Red Strike Ahead

SAIGON Viet Nam (AP)—The South Viet Nam army believes that the Vietnamese Communists and the Chinese Reds have signed a secret pledge to help each other in any military operations to achieve their No. 1 objective — Formosa for the Chinese and the rest of Indochina for Ho Chi Minh's Viet-minh.

The army said that the reported agreement, signed recently in Peking, also provides for joint Russian-Chinese-Vietnamese control of the big North Indochina port of Haiphong, which the French and South Vietnamese under the Geneva agreement are to cede to Ho Chi Minh's North Viet Nam forces by the middle of next May.

AN INTENSE hunt is on for Patrick Eugene McDermott, 55, lifer who scored a bold and unusual escape from Ohio penitentiary, Columbus, simply by putting on his hat and coat and walking out with a young woman who came to visit him. McDermott, sentenced for the slaying in 1926 of Don R. Mellet, editor of a crusading Canton, O., newspaper, was assigned to the honor dormitory, outside main walls but still walled in. Thus he wore civilian clothing. (International)

Museum Uncovers Old Masterpiece

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Art Museum says it has uncovered an $80,000 masterpiece of Botticelli, an Italian painter of the Renaissance period.

Philip R. Adams, museum director, announced yesterday three layers of old paint had been removed to get to the basic work, "Judith with the Head of Holofernes."

Adams said he and a Cincinnati industrialist saw the picture two years ago in Florence, Italy. The 8½ by 11 oil painting was considered a "minor" Botticelli.

It is often suggested that letters and circulars of this nature represent the lunatic fringe of our society. It is said that one should not dignify their loathings with public notice. These examples are two of hundreds that are received in this office every month and represent a continuingly dangerous development in our society.

I should estimate that I receive more anti-Catholic than anti-Semitic literature and that the anti-

Catholic material is printed on better paper, costs more to circulate and gives the impression of coming from more responsible sources. It is therefore more likely to be read. These campaigns of hate seize on anti-Communism as a vehicle, but they are never anti-Communist in fact, because the writers rarely indicate a knowledge of what Marxism is and why it should be opposed. They usually are against it for the wrong reasons.

No Ohio Angle Seen In Decision

COLUMBUS (AP)—A state utilities commission official says a U. S. Supreme Court decision regarding interstate trucking has no effect on Ohio's case against Riss & Co., Inc. of Kansas City, Mo.

The high court ruled that states may not bar interstate truckers from their highways, even for repeated overloading.

Everett H. Krueger r., assistant attorney general for the utilities commission, said the state had filed its case with the Interstate Commerce Commission and had not acted on its own to rescind the Riss permit.

Niagara Suffers Another Rockfall

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. (AP)—A new rockfall along the crestline of the American side of Niagara Falls has sent an estimated 2,500 tons of rock plunging into the Niagara River Gorge.

The rockfall, second on the American side this year, occurred midway between Luna Island and Prospect Point, a popular observation area on the American mainland. It was detected by crews operating lights at the falls.

More Trading Seen Brewing In Majors

Chisox Chief Lingers After Parley; Possible Deals Are Numerous

NEW YORK (AP)—The annual major league meetings are ended but that trading man Frank Lane was still in town today—which means there may still be some more player deals.

In fact, the energetic Chicago White Sox general manager has a couple of near-swaps up his sleeve—ready to pull off at the drop of a name—like Finigan or Portocarrero.

Cleveland's Hank Greenberg, Cincinnati's Gabe Paul, Philadelphia's Roy Hamey and St. Louis' Dick Meyer also stayed behind after the meetings ended.

Following is a list of possible deals that have advanced past the plain "feeling out" stage and may be consummated within the next few days or few weeks.

1. The Brooklyn-Cincinnati five player swap involving outfielder Wally Post, pitcher Fred Baczewski and Hobie Landrith of the Reds and second baseman Junior Gilliam and pitcher Bob Milliken of the Dodgers is not dead although it has cooled off considerably.

2. The White Sox, rebuffed in their efforts to snag third baseman Jim Finigan and pitcher Arnie Portocarrero from Kansas City, are prepared to renew their bid with a better and bigger proposition.

3. Lane also has been closeted with General Manager Greenberg of the Indians and may soon announce a trade that would send outfielder Dale Mitchell to Chicago for catcher Carl Sawatski and a utility infielder.

4. The Cards and Reds, unable to come to an agreement after a four-hour session yesterday, may yet swing a deal that could be bigger than the original one that would have exchanged a St. Louis infielder for relief pitcher Frank Smith of the Reds.

The Dodger-Reds deal didn't come off as expected. E. J. (Buzzie) Bavasi, Dodger vice president, said he called it off.

"The more I thought of it," he said, "the less I liked it." Walter (manager Alston) wanted to make it but I feel I would be giving up too much. Sure, I would like to have Post in left field but I decided I would be better off with Gilliam, who can play left field as well as second base. The deal is off but we may be able to do something yet."

The last-minute refusal left Manager Birdie Tebbetts of the Reds somewhat bitter.

If Bavasi still wants to deal, it will have to be without Post. I plan to keep him," Tebbetts said. Lane, busiest of the traders, found resistance in his bid to Kansas City for Finigan and Portocarrero. The curly-haired dynamo figured in two deals Monday that involved 13 players.

Parke Carroll, business manager of the Athletics, said he had not been offered the men he wanted.

"We can't let Finigan and Portocarrero go unless we get four players of major league ability," he said. "What Chicago has offered were guys who have only a year or two left."

Twin Bill Ring Meeting Offered

TOLEDO (AP)—Archie Moore, world light heavyweight champion, has offered to meet two heavyweights, Johnny Williams and Don Cockrel, on the same fight card Dec. 29 in Miami.

The champion's unique proposition is an outgrowth of his feud with the International Boxing Club. Moore and Bob Satterfield, Chicago, were scheduled to meet on

Majors Shun Main Player Requests

NEW YORK (AP)—The major leagues rejected the most important requests of the player representatives at their joint meeting and at the same time gave the minor leagues a brushoff.

The majors slammed the door on all but a couple of minor requests of the players, such as approving mailing of contracts Jan. 15 instead of Feb. 1 and uniform payment of expenses in spring training.

In explaining why the owners turned thumbs down on the players' demand for a boost in minimum salary from $6,000 to $7,200, Commissioner Ford Frick, who presided at the joint session, said: "Such an increase would be a pretty expensive item, because in the case of players sent down to the minors, the major league club would have to continue to pay the minimum salary."

Also vetoed was the request that present restrictions on winter ball participation be lifted.

The majors rejected an amendment by the minors restricting broadcasts and telecasts of big league games within a radius of 50 miles of each home city. The owners, however, made an effort to help the minors financially by agreeing to pay minimum fees for players brought up from Class B, C and D leagues. They also agreed to pay part of the manager's salary and the spring training expenses for clubs with which they have a working agreement.

The Miami card but Satterfield was knocked out last week by Marty Marshall and the IBC decided to drop him from the card. Rather than seek a new opponent for Moore, the IBC plans to make a new match, and Moore is protesting.

California Star Tops Receivers

NEW YORK (AP)—A regular defensive end as a sophomore in two-platoon football two years ago, Jim Hanifan of California is the nation's major-college pass receiving champion today, the first the Pacific Coast has ever had.

Hanifan completed his sensational switch, final NCAA Service Bureau statistics showed, by catching 44 passes this season. He also led in touchdown passes caught seven and his 569-yard advance was exceeded only by Stanford's John Stewart, who gained 577. Stewart was runner-up in number caught with 36.

Michigan State's only undefeated basketball season was in 1902-03.

Break Up Mohawks? No, Is Cincy Cry

CINCINNATI (AP)—They're talking again about breaking up the Cincinnati Mohawks, the "Yankees" of the International Hockey League.

The discussion even reached the last meeting of the IHL's board of directors. But Tom Grace, president of the Mohawks, scoffed at the suggestion.

He told the board that Cincinnati, which has won 15 of its 18 contests, and brought up eight rookies this season.

Cincinnati lost its third game of the season last week. Troy applying the job 7-5. Then in an exhibition tilt against Fort Wayne on the neutral ice of Marion, the Mohawks lost again. Marion had an entry in the league last season and the exhibition was scheduled to test the city's ice sentiment. The response was icy: Only 851 spectators showed up.

While Fort Wayne's win does not count in the standings, the Komets needed the victory for morale purposes. They have lost their last 11 league contests and have dropped to the league basement. Fort

Wayne will supply the opposition tonight when the Bruins of Troy, now in second place, seek their fourth straight victory.

Johnstown, which has spent most of the season in the cellar, climbed to fifth by winning three of its four engagements. It is a half a game behind Toledo. In turn, Toledo's Mercurys are a half game behind third-place Grand Rapids.

Too another consideration is the extra large trade-in allowance on your old washer that Boyer's will allow you. Low down payment and easy terms can be arranged. Stop at Boyer's Hardware, 810 S. Court street and inspect this new Norge Appliance any woman would be pleased to own. She would also be pleased with the extra hours of leisure she would enjoy when she uses it. It is so convenient too—it is portable and can be placed anywhere wanted and is arranged to save space. See it before you buy another washer.</

AP's All-American Grid '11' Sports Steer or Backfield

NEW YORK (AP)—A widely diversified eleven led by the best balanced backfield of recent years has been chosen as the 1954 Associated Press All-America football team.

In the backfield announced today are Ralph Guglielmi, the crafty Notre Dame quarterback, Howard Cassidy of Ohio State and Dicky Moegele of Rice, halfbacks, and Alan Ameche, powerful Wisconsin fullback.

The team was chosen on the recommendations of 11 AP regional All-America boards plus individual recommendations received from more than 500 AP member newspapers and radio stations, and is based on full reports for the entire season.

On the line are Ron Beagle, Navy, and Frank McDonald, Miami (Fla.), ends; Jack Ellena, UCLA, and Rex Boggan, Mississippi, tackles; Bud Brooks, Arkansas, and Ralph Chesnaukas, Army, guards; and Kurt Burris, Oklahoma, center.

The 1954 All-America averages 207 pounds in the line and 188½ in the backfield.

The bigness of the team reflects the return to strong, durable players in the second year after elimination of the two-plateau system with its unlimited substitutions.

The trend of play in 1954 appeared to be away from passing and back to the running game. Despite the curtailment of substitutions, the better teams were characterized by the machine-like perfection that tended to subordinate the individual.

Geographically the first team is divided as follows: One easterner (Army), one from the Mid-Atlantic states (Navy), two from the South (Mississippi and Miami), two from the Southwest (Rice and Arkansas), three from the Midwest (Notre Dame, Ohio State and Wisconsin), one from the midlands (Oklahoma) and one from the West (UCLA).

All of the first team selections are appearing at the top for the first time. Of last year's first team, only Larry Morris, Georgia Tech center, was eligible again in 1954, and Morris was handicapped by injuries.

Ohio State, the nation's No. 1 team in the AP poll and winner of the O'Donnell Trophy emblematic of the national championship, placed Cassidy on the first team and Dick Hilsinki at tackle on the third.

UCLA, also undefeated and a close runner-up to Ohio State, has Ellena on the first team, Bob Davenport in the second team backfield, and Jim Salsbury at guard on the third.

Undefeated Oklahoma, the No. 3 team, has Burris on the first team, and Max Boydston at end on the second.

Notre Dame, playing its first year under young Terry Brennan, placed Guglielmi on the first team and Frank Varrichione at tackle on the third.

The 1954 backfield represents the best diversification of recent years.

Guglielmi, a sparkling quarterback, completed 68 out of 127 passes for 1,160 yards and six touchdowns, with but six interceptions. He carried only 79 times for 95 yards but scored five touchdowns and intercepted five passes.

Cassidy, the htp - along of Ohio State's powerhouse, carried 102 times for 609 yards and an average of 5.97. He scored eight touchdowns. He made the play that probably was the turning point of Ohio State's season when he intercepted a Wisconsin pass and ran 88 yards for a touchdown to break Wisconsin's back and inspire a 21-point final quarter for Ohio State. During the season he intercepted four for 51 yards.

Moegele of Rice - The baby-faced lad who was tackled from the bench in the last Cotton Bowl game - led the Southwest Conference in scoring, ball carrying, and punt returning. He carried 144 times for 905 yards and a 6.3 average. He caught 18 passes for 198 yards, and scored 12 touchdowns in all. He returned 15 punts for 301 yards.

Ameche, known as "The Horse" because of his great power, carried 146 times for Wisconsin, making 637 yards, and scoring nine touchdowns.

Beagle was outstanding at end for Navy. He received 19 passes for 243 yards and three touchdowns, and scored another touch-

Rio Grande Star Shining Dimly

RIO GRANDE (AP)—What is the basketball outlook at Rio Grande College now with Bevo Francis gone?

New Coach Herman Bush said, "We're doing all right, and we may come up with an even season at least."

Bevo left the school and joined a professional team, the Boston Whirlwinds, and along with him went teammates Wayne Wiseman and Al Schreiber, as well as Coach New Oliver.

The publicity that surrounded Bevo has gone and there are no big-time colleges on Rio Grande's schedule. But Rio has won three of its first four games, the latest by 103-96 over Bluefield State.

Eight Ordinances And Resolution Gain Approval In City Council

In the short space of approximately 30 minutes, City Council Tuesday night passed eight ordinances, adopted a resolution and had another ordinance read for the second time.

Seven of the eight ordinances were for amendments to the annual appropriation ordinance. The eighth dealt with placing a traffic light at the intersection of Washington and Ohio Streets.

The resolution authorized the public service director to put a street light at an alley running east of Washington St. and north of Walnut St.

The light will be placed at a point to be designated by the 4th Ward councilman, Boyd Horn, and the city service director, Dewey Speakman.

for meals of city prisoners being fed in the county jail.

The addition of street lights in the city caused $563 to be approved by council, to be transferred to the street light fund.

Nolan Dunkle, city parking meter collection and maintenance man, was assured $141.50 in salary as council agreed to take that amount from the general fund.

FOR THE PAYMENT of utilities at the city building, council okayed the sum of $100. And $150 was granted from the general fund to pay bills of the City Park Board.

Maintenance of traffic lights in Circleville caused an additional $950 to be transferred into that fund. The reason given for this added amount was that the account was overdrawn.

The controversial Washington-Ohio intersection will have a traffic light. A plan is under way to take the present light at Clinton and Ohio streets and move it to the new location.

Council was notified that the general elections held here Nov. 2 had been certified by the Board of Elections of Pickaway County. This concerned the one mill levy for fire protection.

The official vote was listed as 2,900 altogether; 2,084 for the levy, 816 against.

Informed that water could no longer be pumped free to Ted Lewis Park, council agreed to have the city billed for $10 a year. Since 1949, the bill would have amounted to $600, some of this due to several large leaks in the pipes.

Rifle Training Planned For Scouts, Cubs

Instruction Course Set For Army; Safety Keynote

A new, organized program to teach local youngsters how to handle firearms safely will get under way here Sunday under sponsorship of the Boy Scouts organization and cooperating groups.

The program is designed to teach all Cubs and Boy Scouts the principles of safe gun handling and gun safety before the individual boy's curiosity leads him into a tragic mishap. It was hoped that the lessons learned by the Cubs and Scouts will be passed on to many other boys who may not belong to any of the packs or troops.

Details of the instruction program were revealed by Link Mader, chairman of the camping and activities committee of the county's branch of the Boy Scout organization.

The program will be held next Sunday in the National Guard Armory on E. Franklin St.

At 1:30 P. M., a lecture and gun safety demonstration will be given by Lt. Stacy Hall of the Columbus City Detective Bureau. At 2 p. m., five indoor 50-foot firing ranges will be opened to all Cubs and Scouts. Only single shot, bolt action .22 caliber rifles will be used. The guns will be furnished to the participants, along with ammunition.

Each firing line will be under the strict supervision of a police officer, Pickaway County deputy sheriff, or state patrolman. They will carefully coach each boy as to the loading and firing of the weapons. Mader, in outlining plans for the afternoon, emphasized that special caution will be maintained at all times.

"There will be nothing slapstick or careless about this thing," he (Continued on Page Two)

CIO Writing New Code For Welfare Fund

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The CIO convention today was expected to adopt a code designed to safeguard union welfare funds from graft and "make sure that maximum benefits" are paid.

An ethical practices committee came up with the code after receiving the views of insurance firms and other experts in the field at recent hearings in New York City. Disclosures that some union officials and insurance brokers had profited handsomely from handling such funds prompted the study.

Among the recommendations slated for adoption were:

1. Welfare funds should be audited at least semiannually by independent public accountants.
2. Trustees should make public at least once a year "all pertinent facts concerning the administration of welfare funds" including salaries, expenses and fees paid.
3. Company or union officials acting as trustees or administrators should not get extra compensation beyond their salaries.
4. Welfare programs carried through insurance companies should be awarded "on the basis of lowest net cost for given benefits provided."

North End Building May Be Curtailed

Construction work in the "north end" of Circleville may be curtailed Jan. 1, city council was told Tuesday night.

Attorney Joe Adkins, representing the Central Development Co., declared that the Federal Housing Administration had rejected loans of the company because there were no definite city plans for storm and sanitary sewers.

In an hour long verbal exchange with various councilmen, Adkins accused council of not making enough progress in the sewer problem, one of the most difficult facing the community.

However, councilmen countered with statements concerning the work being done by the Columbus engineering firm of Burgess and Niple. They pointed out that a number of surveys have been made by the firm at the direction of city council.

ADKINS FURTHER charged that no definite plan for financing storm and sanitary sewers was even being considered by Burgess and Niple. He said that this one FHA was the main reason why FHA had turned down the loan requests.

Joe Messana, head of Central Development Co., told council that his firm was willing to put in sewers at its own expense. But he

Red China Premier Lashes New U.S.-Nationalist Pact

LONDON (AP)—Chinese Communist Premier Chou En-Lai said tonight the United States committed "a grave warlike provocation" by entering a few days ago into a mutual security treaty with the Chinese Nationalists.

Chou's blistering statement, broadcast by the Peiping radio, threatened that if the United States does not withdraw all its forces from Formosa, the Formosa Strait and Penghu Islands "and persists in interfering in China's internal affairs, it must take upon itself all the grave consequences."

Chou described Nationalist Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek as "the public enemy of the Chinese people."

The broadcast, recorded here, quoted the premier saying:

"To liberate Taiwan (Formosa) and to liquidate the traitorous Chiang Kai-shek clique is a matter which falls entirely within the scope of China's sovereignty and internal affairs and no interference pointed out they require a trunk line into the main connection.

During the heated battle, council took the stand that Adkins was asking too much in a short space of time. Adkins had said that FHA would accept a letter from council stating that storm and sanitary sewers would eventually be put in. This letter, he added, would be enough to satisfy FHA and renew the loan applications.

Council suggested that the minutes of the meetings in which the firm of Burgess and Niple was hired, and the purpose for conducting their surveys, would be enough. They said that these minutes could be copied and then certified by Fred Nicholas, clerk of council.

Adkins vehemently criticized council for "asking people to move here and then failing to provide the proper facilities."

THE QUESTION of assessments came up. It was admitted that this type of financing sewers might not prove very acceptable to all residents in the area. It was generally agreed that any financing of storm and sanitary sewers in the north end would be a very expensive project.

"Council should go into long range planning," Adkins declared. "You have done nothing about sewers in the north end. The ones which are in at the present time are privately paid for."

One councilman brought out the fact that Burgess and Niple began surveys here 18 months ago. But there was no public support, he added, and the engineers were then only permitted to go ahead on a limited scale.

Another councilman pointed out that each step in planning had to (Continued on Page Two) by any foreign country will be tolerated.

"Threats of war cannot shake the determination of the Chinese people to liberate Taiwan, they can only heighten the indignation of the Chinese people."

"The Chiang Kai-shek clique of national betrayal has no authority whatsoever to conclude any treaty with any country."

"The 'mutual security treaty' entered into between the United States and Chiang Kai-shek has no legal basis whatever and is null and void."

"This treaty is a betrayal of China's sovereignty and territorial rights and is resolutely opposed by the Chinese people."

Chou said the U. S. government had disregarded "repeated protests and warnings" by the Communist Chinese about this treaty.

"By this treaty, the U. S. government attempts to legalize its armed seizure of China's territory of Taiwan and, with Taiwan as a base, to extend its aggression against China and prepare a new war."

Reds Expected To Try Stall On Flier Issue

U.N. Assembly Slated To Take Up Problem Of Chinese Prisoners

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The 16 Korean War Allies looked for Russia to throw up procedural roadblocks today in an effort to delay U. N. Assembly debate on Red China's jailing of 11 U. S. fliers as spies.

Most diplomats felt, however, such Soviet tactics could not hold up action for more than a day on the Allies' demand that the U. N. denounce the Chinese action as a violation of the Korean armistice and seek the release of the men.

U. N. observers said Russia could delay things a while by:

1. Arguing the Assembly has no right to handle the case on grounds that it dealt with espionage rather than prisoners of war.
2. Demanding that the case be allocated first to the 60-nation Political Committee instead of going direct to the Assembly as recommended by the steering panel.
3. Insisting that Red China be invited here to give her side in the debate.

THE ASSEMBLY must decide on all such points before turning to discussion of the Allied resolution, which calls on Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold to work for release of the 11 airmen and report back to the assembly by Dec. 31.

Hammarskjold is expected to approach the Chinese through some neutral state.

India is understood to have indicated her willingness to act as go-between.

U. S. sources said they anticipated no opposition to the resolution except from the five-nation Soviet bloc and a few Asian states who feel the case should first be placed in the hands of the Korean Military Armistice Commission.

The United States hopes for a big vote of approval that might influence Red China to free the prisoners.

U. S. Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. yesterday gave Hammarskjold a letter naming four other American airmen that Red Chinese representatives to the Geneva conference admitted were being held by Peiping. Lodge charged that their detention constituted an additional violation of the Korean armistice.

Arraignment Set In Eaton Slaying

EATON (AP)—Carl Miller, 46-year-old male nurse, will be arraigned tomorrow on first-degree murder charges for the slaying of his wife, Louise, 36, and her friend, Lee Traver Veach, 32.

Prosecuting Attorney Everett Fahrholz said there was "no romantic interest" between Mrs. Miller and Veach, a carpenter.

Mrs. Miller and Veach were shot to death Sunday at the Miller farmhouse. The Millers were seeking a divorce. Under a court permit, Miller went to see his 3-week-old son. Veach's presence there irritated Miller, Sheriff Floyd Spiller said.

Little Backing Is Found For Joe's Attack On Ike

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McCarthy's politically explosive accusation that President Eisenhower has displayed "weakness" toward communism so far has drawn little backing for the senator from Wisconsin.

Among senators reached for comment on the sharp criticism, none supported McCarthy 100 per cent. Some Republicans who voted last Thursday against condemning him took issue with him for assailing the President.

Senate Democrats, who voted solidly to condemn McCarthy, tended in off-the-record comment to regard their party as likely to benefit from the repercussions on the Republican side.

Eisenhower himself refrained from any immediate comment, but he authorized a White House statement listing administration steps in the anti-Communist fight at home. Press Secretary James C. Hagerty also called attention to the President's news conference remark last week that the United States must not let itself be goaded into war by the Communists.

At least one member of Eisenhower's official family was letting his anger be known, however. Secretary of Labor Mitchell said in Los Angeles last night: "All of my upbringing, religious and in every other way, makes my blood boil when the President of the United States is attacked in that way."

McCarthy's charge that Eisenhower has displayed a "shrinking of weakness" in dealing with communism is traceable in part to Senate Republican leader Knowland's call for a U. S. blockade against Red China in an effort to release 13 Americans imprisoned as "spies."

McCarthy has supported Knowland, but Eisenhower ruled out such a step at this time. He said

President Refuses Quarrel With Attacking McCarthy

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower, dealing with questions about Sen. McCarthy's attack on him, declared emphatically today he has no intention of indulging in personal vituperation or quarrels.

The President came up with a crisp no when asked for comment at his news conference on the McCarthy attack on Eisenhower. And, in what he did say later, Eisenhower never did mention McCarthy by name.

In this, the President was sticking to his repeatedly stated policy of refusing to talk about McCarthy as an individual.

The first question put to Eisenhower, at the crowded news conference, dealt with McCarthy's personal attack.

McCarthy yesterday accused the President of a "shrinking of weakness" toward communism and of tolerance for Reds who torture imprisoned Americans.

A reporter summarized McCarthy's charges and then asked the President whether he cared to com-

The average increase anticipated in the 25 cities was 5 per cent.

Traffic Rights Of Pedestrians Stressed Here

The lowly rated pedestrian, who often has to step fast to stay alive, will have his full rights respected when Circleville joins in the nationwide Safe Driving Day test next Wednesday.

This became apparent as law enforcement officers pointed out that pedestrians have the right-of-way at all intersections, even though they don't always insist upon it. At the same time, however, it was stressed that pedestrians also have a number of obligations to comply with safety rules.

The spotlight, in the city and county and throughout the rest of the nation, will be on pedestrians and motorists alike when the 24-hour test program begins. All traffic mishaps on that day will be given special attention here.

Ray Friend, named director of the one-day test in Circleville, hopes to enlist the aid of church and school officials, in addition to other portions of the public.

Purpose of S-Day is to concentrate everybody's attention on all the factors that contribute to traffic accidents. Each participating community will try to have a clean slate at the end of the 24-hour test period.

Police quoted Turner as saying he read detective stories "for months" to learn burglary techniques. He was caught climbing out of the window in a Bloomington doctor's office.

Dem Chieftain Lists Lausche As 'Presidential Timber'

SOUTH END (AP)—Ohio's popular five-term governor, Frank J. Lausche, has been listed as a possible 1956 Democratic candidate for President.

The Democratic party has "many men who are presidential timber" and Adlai Stevenson must seek the 1956 presidential nomination "vigorously" if he wants it, says Paul Butler, the party's new national chairman.

Butler, also said last night that "he (Stevenson) and other candidates must let the party and the nation know their intentions by the latter part of 1955."

The South Bend lawyer, pressed by the newsmen to name possible candidates, mentioned Lausche, Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia, Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan, Gov.-elect George M. Leader of Pennsylvania and Gov.-elect Averell Harriman of New York.

"All I know is what I read in the papers and most papers consider him (Stevenson), the leader right now," Butler said. "But the Democratic party is fortunate in having many men who are presidential timber for 1956."

"I have no reason to think that Stevenson will or will not seek the nomination. However, he won't obtain it the same way he did in '52. There will be no draft. If Stevenson seeks the nomination, he must seek it vigorously."

The tenor of the new chairman's remarks apparently were intended to establish himself as an independent factor in the party, although he was generally believed to be pro-Stevenson in party affairs.

On the subject of the situation in the South, he said: "I am hopeful that factionalism with the Democratic party is over and I will work to that end."

President Says His Optimism Now Very High

Chance Of Global Fight Viewed Less Now Than Since January, 1951

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today he believes the fear of a global war is at a lower level now than at any time in the last few years.

The President was asked at his news conference here today he believed the chances of peace are brighter than at any time since he took office two years ago.

Eisenhower said he wanted to differentiate between peace and an armistice, but stated he believes fear of a global war is less now than at any time since he went abroad to head up the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in January, 1951.

The old Indian treaty room where the President traditionally holds news conferences was jammed with more than 200 reporters anxious to question Eisenhower about Sen. McCarthy's charges of weakness against communism.

EISENHOWER refused to make a direct reply, pointing out again that he does not indulge in personal vituperation, but stands for positive things while always upholding the right of Congress to investigate legitimate affairs in the executive branch.

Asked about the statement by Nat. M. Butler, the new Democratic national chairman, that Eisenhower lacks the "capacity to lead and unite the American people," the President once again said he was not going to reply to an individual attack directly.

But he declared in a firm voice that he had heard such charges before and that too often politicians look into a looking glass instead of out a window.

Covering many other subjects, the President had these things to say on other matters:

Atoms for peace—Today is the first anniversary of his talk about the United Nations asking an "atoms for peace" international arrangement.

Eisenhower said that at his request Secretary of State Dulles will give out later a record of the things done under that proposal. While they are below expectations, the President added, they constitute a considerable accomplishment.

PROGRAM—On Monday, Eisenhower will meet with Republican congressional leaders to discuss the administration's 1955 program and the necessary changes brought about by experiences this year. The President did not elaborate on the word, "experiences." In the elections last month, the Democrats won control of Congress.

Eisenhower will meet Tuesday with leaders of both parties—chairman and ranking Democrats on Foreign Relations, Armed Services, to go over such things as foreign aid, foreign policy and national security.

Economic aid—The question of a new economic aid program for Asia has not developed far enough to be presented to Eisenhower, but he said that of course some program on foreign economic aid is going to be presented to Congress.

He was a former anthropologist at Antioch College, Yellow Springs, but had recently worked for the Atomic Bomb Casualty Commission at Hiroshima.

Little Backing Is Found For Joe's Attack

den Eisenhower was fighting the Communists quite a few years before Sen. McCarthy made his maiden speech on the subject in the Senate.

Sen. Welker (R-Idaho), who was a floor manager of the McCarthy fight against censure, came closest to endorsement of McCarthy's criticism of Eisenhower.

"I hardly think it is necessary," said Welker, "for the chief executive to be warmly congratulating anyone in this affair."

That was an allusion to this statement by McCarthy: "I find the President, on one hand, congratulates the senators who hold up the work of our (Red-probing) committee and on the other hand urges that we be patient with the Communist hoodlums who, as of this very moment, are torturing and brainwashing American uniformed men in Communist dungeons."

McCarthy, who cut loose with his charges at a meeting of the Senate Investigations subcommittee he heads, was referring to Senators Watkins (R-Utah) and Flanders (R-Vt.).

Watkins headed the special committee which recommended censure of McCarthy. Last Saturday Watkins went to the White House, reportedly at Eisenhower's request and the President congratulated him on "a very splendid job."

Flanders initiated censure charges against McCarthy. The President wrote him early this year and reportedly commended him in connection with a speech assailing McCarthy.

Commenting on McCarthy's criticism of the President, Flanders said McCarthy had "declared political war" and "wishes a split" in the Republican party.

Watkins said: "Sen. McCarthy's attack on the President, Sen. Flanders and myself shows him to be the same irresponsible McCarthy that the Senate by an overwhelming vote condemned last Thursday."

Hoaxer Is Freed

CLEVELAND (AP)—Police have freed Henry W. Fuehrer, 32, who admitted his story of accompanying a "bushy-haired" burglar to the house where Marilyn Sheppard was killed July 4 was a hoax. Officers said Fuehrer was in jail in Knoxville, Tenn., the night of the slaying.

World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy's attack on President Eisenhower has peeled back the covers at last for all the nation to see what a good many people have known for a long time.

It's been a well-known secret for months hereabouts that Eisenhower didn't have much use for McCarthy, and also that the Wisconsin Republican's esteem for the President could be loaded into an eye dropper with space to spare. Thus McCarthy's scalding criticism of Eisenhower for an alleged "shrinking show of weakness" toward communism comes with no great shock of surprise in many quarters. In fact, an open collision before this seemingly has been dodged only by some fancy verbal footwork on both sides.

In his latest bombshell, McCarthy didn't speak out impulsively or in the heat of debate. He read from a statement prepared before he came to a committee hearing. He was well aware of the import of the words he was to speak.

The unusual thing about the statement was that McCarthy assailed Eisenhower personally, and not merely the administration. Several times in past months, McCarthy has sharply criticized the administration. But these assaults have been softened with kind words for the President himself.

Privately, McCarthy left it be known he didn't think much of Eisenhower and his policies in dealing with the Communists.

On the other side, White House aides deliberately and frequently have advised reporters they wouldn't be wrong if they said the President didn't like either McCarthy or his methods. But the reporter was to let this be known without revealing the source of information.

This sort of veiled situation has existed for months. Eisenhower has referred to McCarthy obliquely in his press conference in critical terms but he always has refrained from "engaging in personalities" with the use of the senator's name. There existed a sort of armed truce in the area of public name calling.

Then Eisenhower gave his congratulations to Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) for a job well done as chairman of the Senate committee which recommended censure of McCarthy. In return, McCarthy blasted Eisenhower by name.

Some of McCarthy's colleagues think the senator lashes out blindly in his attacks against anyone who gets in his path. They profess to see no pattern of long-range motive in his actions.

There are others who are convinced McCarthy has a definite goal, either that he wants to be president of the United States or

50 Attend Cattle Feeders Meeting

Fifty Pickaway County cattle feeders attended the group's county meeting at Williamsport. A tour of five farms was held prior to the meeting.

Hewitt Cromley, of Ashville Route 2, was elected to represent Pickaway County in the Ohio Cattle Feeders Association. Selmar Lehman, of Lockbourne Route 1, was named assistant representative to the association. Hewitt announced that the annual winter meeting of the Ohio Cattle Feeder's Association would be held Feb. 2-3.

Jim Warner, extension specialist at Ohio State University, spoke at the meeting on some of the feeder cattle problems. George Zeis, Columbus farm writer, was present at the meeting and gave a short report on the International Livestock Show, held in Chicago. Farms visited on the tour included properties of Frank Mace on the Defenbaugh farm, Graves and Weldon, Lloyd Drummond, and the Bennett farm.

The group plans another tour of the same farms on March 25.

SALT CREEK

By Vera Hinton

Recently Salt Creek High School students held their third class meeting with the presidents in charge. Plans are being made for class projects.

Members. They are Shirley Winmembers. They are Shirley Winland from Logan and Joyce Gaines from Circleville. The Sophomores recently finished their annual magazine subscription sale. The Juniors have received their class rings. They are conducting a Christmas card sale which is proving very profitable.

The Seniors presented their class play, "Who Wouldn't be Crazy", to a large crowd.

Honor Roll for the 2nd six-weeks period is as follows:
Freshman: Dwight Beougher, Wanda Fetherolf, Patty Hart, Beverly McFadden, Benny O'Hara, and Patty Strous.

Sophomore—None.

Juniors: Patty Woodward.

else he wants to become a third force in American politics with such power that he can influence the choice of a president.

McCarthy himself denies any such political ambition and places his motives on the high plateau of patriotism.

But at least this much has become apparent in the situation: A false front has been removed from the Eisenhower-McCarthy relationship by the senator himself. Now there can be no mistake about it. Everybody knows where the two men stand in relation to each other.

Hal Boyle Says:Kids Smarter Than Adults

NEW YORK (AP)—It has always been my contention that children are more intelligent than grown-ups.

One sign of intelligence is the ability to get what you really need or want out of life.

And the Christmas season is the time when the kids best show their mental superiority over adults in this respect. A child knows exactly the presents he wants, and he knows the right technique for getting them.

The little boys and girls get out their school pads and pencils and write letters such as the following:

"Dear Santa Claus,
"I am a little girl just a few years old. Boy, have I been a good girl. I been so good my mommy says if she had another little girl just like me she wouldn't know what to do.

"I wanna bike and pigtales and a new dress and police don't bring me no more dolls on account I already got more dolls than a store.

oug littl fren,
Rosebud O'Hara."

On Christmas day Rosebud and her pal next door, Butch Rosen-cranz, compare the loot.

"Sure, I got 'zactly what I wanted," brags Rosebud. "Don't you think my daddy can read plain writing?"

"I thought you ast for pigtales—you ain't got no pigtales," objects Butch.

"Silly, I knew there wasn't time to grow pigtales 'fore Christmas," says Rosebud. "I jus' put that in about the pigtales so they'd be surr to get me the bike. That's what I really wanted."

It is this striking innocence about children that pays off. They have faith. Grownups are only older children with ulcers, and they get the ulcers because they are frustrated, and it is their own fault usually that they are frustrated.

They have lost faith. They pretend they aren't mad when they don't get what they want for Christmas, but they really are hurt, and they sulk inside.

The real reason they often don't get what they want is because they are so dumb. Any child realizes Santa Claus has to be told what to bring. But silly grownups make their secret secret Christmas wishes and keep them to themselves. Then they get angry because Santa Claus hasn't been able to read their mind.

Here is what an adult should do. He should sit down and write a letter as follows:

"Dear Santa Claus,
"I am just a poor tired grown-up. But I've been a good boy all year. I never have got what I wanted for Christmas.
"This year I'd like to. I want some gloves, size 10, and some shirts with regular collars (neck 15½, sleeves 33), and a pair of black shoes (size 10-C), and a blue camel's hair coat (size 42 regular), a sailboat with an outboard motor, an aqualung, a one-man submarine, a new car (any size), and any spare cash you got lying around.

"Your big friend,
"Roscoe McFud-dle."

Don't address this letter to the North Pole. Make 100 copies. Send one copy to your wife, 49 to your favorite friends and enemies, and the other 50 to people picked at random who have a high rating in Dun & Bradstreet. How do you know it won't work?

A friend of mine tried it. He wrote a Santa Claus letter—and sent it to 100 ladies listed in a social directory—saying, "I am just a lonely balding bachelor with high principles who, once in his life, would like to have a beautiful girl take him out to dinner on Christmas."

Well, it didn't turn out quite as he expected. He had hoped for a beautiful young blonde.

"Nobody showed up but a wealthy widow," he confessed. "But I certainly don't feel I wasted my stamp money."

The main thing for grownups to remember is this: If you really have faith in Santa Claus, and go to the trouble of letting him know what you want—well, he'll do the best he can.

MRS. JANE REMINGTON, whose husband was beaten to death in the U.S. Penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa., is escorted from a crematory in North Bergen, N.J., where former government economist William Remington was cremated. He had been serving a term for falsely denying he aided a Red spy ring. (International)

Accused Loganite Declared Sane

LOGAN (AP)—Declared legally sane after a Lima State Hospital examination, Robert Downs has been returned here.

A Hocking County grand jury indicted Downs last October for first degree murder in the death of Dave Canfield, 70-year-old farmer.

Downs, of near Rockbridge, pleaded innocent to the charge by reason of insanity. He also was indicted for arson.

Ohioan Making Rail Cushions

ASHTABULA (AP)—Someday you may not be able to hear the train go clickety-clack.

Nelson K. Moses a former fireman and engineer, predicts trains of the future will ride on rubber-cushioned rails. He is so convinced, he quit the railroad and opened a plant that makes rubber rail cushions.

He expects to sell $150,000 worth

this year. That's more than 20 times the gross business he did in 1951, when he opened shop, and he believes the business is still in its infancy.

The cushions he makes now go between the plate and the tie and between the plate and the rail.

Ross County Gets Third Treasurer

CHILLICOTHE (AP)—Ross County will get its third treasurer in a month Dec. 16.

Russell M. Friend, presently a deputy county treasurer, will take over from Thomas J. Hughes, who had held the office only since November, and who resigned Monday.

Hughes, an accountant, was appointed Ross County treasurer after Treas. William F. Immell resigned Nov. 8 when County Prosecutor Robert Purdue accused him of embezzling $2,247 following a state examiner's report.

Immell and Hughes are Democrats, Friend a Republican.

Frozen Swans Freed From Ice

BONE CITY, Mich. (AP)—Two swans who long have made their home on a local mill pond were caught by a surprise cold wave yesterday and frozen into the ice.

One swan finally squirmed loose with the aid of warm sun and a police and conservation department rescue party. The other wiggled out 10 minutes later.

Tabulating Errors Shown To Be Fewer Where Gadget Used

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Voting machine proponents got a big boost from Ohio's record election recount.

Officials in counties using the machines reported they cut tabulating errors to a minimum and speeded returns.

"I'd like to see all metropolitan cities equipped with voting machines," said Secretary of State Ted W. Brown, Ohio's chief elections official. "It would guarantee correct results and eliminate the need for recounts."

Brown made his observations upon certifying results of the U.S. Senatorial race recount in 23 of Ohio's 88 counties.

The recount cut Republican George H. Bender's 6,041 victory margin over U.S. Sen. Thomas A. Burke (D-Ohio) to 2,918 votes in the Nov. 2 election. The Bender-Burke race was for the final two years of the late GOP Sen. Robert A. Taft's term.

Except for apparent fraud in one county, Brown said the recount uncovered only human errors in tabulating more than 2½ million senatorial votes.

But only one error was reported in the recount of voting machine totals, Brown said. That resulted from a transposition of figures in transferring totals from a voting machine to election board work sheets, he explained.

Only four of the counties recounted used voting machines and of those four only Ross used them county-wide.

The Ross County recount of voting machine totals showed no change from official election figures. Burke gained two votes in the county that resulted from transfer to Burke of an absent voter ballot originally credited to Bender.

Franklin, Mahoning and Richland were the other counties in the recount making partial use of voting machines. All three use both machines and paper ballots. Officials reported the recount of paper ballots was slow compared with that of machines.

A total of 12 Ohio counties now use voting machines. Brown said voting machines cost from $1,200 to $1,400 each. But manufacturers claim they will more than pay for themselves through salary savings and other economies.

Polling places equipped with voting machines require only four election workers, Brown said. Those using paper ballots require at least six during voting hours. Some counties use two crews for each precinct. Daytime crews have at least six workers and night crews at least four.

Other counties use only one large crew but workers sometimes require up to 20 hours after polls close to complete their paper ballot count. Brown said the long hours make it difficult to obtain precinct workers.

"Voting machines permit precinct officials to report to county election boards promptly instead of working for up to 20 hours longer to tabulate paper ballots," Brown said. "After the polls close, precinct officials can take totals from the voting machines as fast as figures are read off and entered on work sheets."

The secretary of state said most voters should be able to cast machine ballots in less than a min-

LAREDO, Tex. (AP)—Elderly S. H. (Slat) Rogers flew a jet airplane for 30 minutes yesterday, just as he wished.

Rogers claims he built Texas' first airplane back in 1911 and flew it in 1912. He said he has flown almost everything since then except a jet.

He went up in a jet for 45 minutes with Col. W. T. Samways of the Laredo Air Force Base at the controls for 15 minutes of the time.

Second Crash Proves Costly

LEVAN, Utah (AP)—George Floyd Hanna of Provo hit a slick spot on the road Tuesday, as he drove along U.S. Highway 91.

His car flipped completely over and landed on its wheels. Inspecting the damage, Hanna, 32, counted himself lucky. All he could find was a broken radiator hose.

So Hanna pulled the car off the road and hiked the mile-and-a-half into Levan for a new hose.

While he was gone, 57-year-old R. M. Allred of Utah's Emery County hit the same slick spot and smashed into Hanna's parked car.

When Hanna returned with his new radiator hose, he learned it would take a little more to make his car run again.

Highway Trooper E. C. Sherwood estimated it would take about $500 more.

Denver Folks Help Governor Find His Dog

DENVER (AP)—There's only one Zip, Gov. Dan Thornton wants the nice people of Denver to know, and he's been found.

Zip, a golden retriever, strayed from the governor's quarters last week but was recovered a few days later after stories about him appeared in the papers.

Trouble is, there are more dog-gone dogs that look like Zip in Denver than anyone knew. And most of them have been brought to Thornton's door by well-meaning citizens the last few days.

One gent called with a golden retriever under his arm yesterday. Told the real Zip had returned, the caller told Thornton he'd taken a taxi all the way across town to return the pup. The governor dug into his pocket and paid the cab fare.

LET THEM WALK

HARDLY A DAY passes that the news does not include at least one story of wanton murder somewhere in the nation. Many of these crimes are committed by youths who have been picked up by kind-hearted motorists. To obtain his car, or for no reason at all, a victim is murdered in cold blood.

One youth, captured after an especially cruel murder, said he shot the man because "he gave me a dirty look."

Marked for early capture because they are driving the victim's car, the reward for such crimes is either the electric chair or life imprisonment. Which leaves society at a loss for an explanation of their actions. It can hardly be possible American youths regard human life as of no value.

Motorists should make it an inflexible rule to pass up all hitchhikers. If this plan is universally followed itinerants will leave the highways, and the number of murders will be reduced. As a rule such persons are merely on the loose. Let them walk.

MATTER OF DEFINITION

RUSSIA'S INCREASING interest in America's atoms-for-peace plan raises to a new notch of intensity the debate now raging over the meaning and significance of the term, peaceful coexistence.

If the Soviets, after considerable h e l dragging, decide to align themselves with the program of spreading peaceable atomic know-how around the world, it will signal a new chapter in free and red world relations. Thus the burning question of the moment is, what are Moscow's intentions when it talks hopefully about peaceful coexistence.

The consensus is that the reds, as is their custom, have seized upon an appealing half truth in the hopes of accomplishing a short-term objective to block the ratification of Western European Union and German rearmament.

"WRIGHTEOUS" WRATH

FAMED ARCHITECT Frank Lloyd Wright is quitting his native Wisconsin in Wroughteous indignation. The 55-year-old dean of radical architecture sees red because the state supreme court held that Taliesin, Wright's world renowned architectural school, is not an educational institution and hence is subject to taxation. But it's the principle that worries him. "They say I am conducting a business instead of a cultural endeavor," he says in an aggrieved tone.

So the man who has astounded the world by his adherence to his own standards for more than half a century is pulling up stakes. He's stripping the tile roofs from his buildings. In this way, he explains, he will leave merely masses of stone as a memorial to his pioneer ancestors who first claimed the ground, and preventing the buildings from being "degraded by non-sympathetic occupation."

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

The mail grows increasingly heavy with volunteer movements designed to kill off opposing sects. It is not only Communists who are to be destroyed but also anti-Communists. Here I hold two circular letters, one is by Brigadier General Herbert C. Holdridge, U.S.A., Retired. He writes from Sherman Oaks, California, and he is after the Pope. General Holdridge says:

"... It should be clear by this time to each of you that McCarthy does not represent himself alone, but that he is merely the front for forces of tremendous potential for the subversion of our government, even to its overthrow by force and violence. I refer to the Vatican, headed by the Pope in Rome, to its Hierarchy and blind followers in the United States, and to all of those who have been drawn to the banner of 'McCarthyism.'"

Toward the end of a long diatribe, he states:

"... The fight has only begun. The United States is still largely a non-Roman Catholic country. The spirit of our Founding Fathers, who left Europe to escape from this very force of violence against human freedom which again raises its head in our country, is still alive in their hearts. They will surely find a means to eliminate this alien power once and for all."

General Holdridge also has issued a copy of a letter he sent to President Eisenhower which states, among other things: "He (the Pope), and his predecessors before him, have repudiated every freedom written into the Bill of Rights of our Constitution. His very presumption of a monopoly over Almighty God — a concept accepted and implemented by his followers — stands as a constant threat to freedom of religion within the United States, as established by our Constitution."

Now let's look at a circular that comes from Bethel, Vermont and is captioned "The Green Mountain Rifleman." The title of the article is "The Jew Schultz Haughtily Tries to Banish Gerald L. K. Smith." The reference is to Rabbi Benjamin Schultz of the American Jewish League Against Communism. The opening paragraph may be enough to show that Manuel and Lucille Miller, "Directors of Action-Strategy, The National Patrick Henry Organization, Inc.," have to say:

"Rabbi Benjamin Schultz and his friends, having pushed their way up to the side of McCarthy, now demand that Gerald L. K. Smith and his friends should get them hence as unworthy of such august company. Schultz is starting a string of million dollar law suits against everybody who says he ever even spoke to Smith, so unclean does he deem Smith to be."

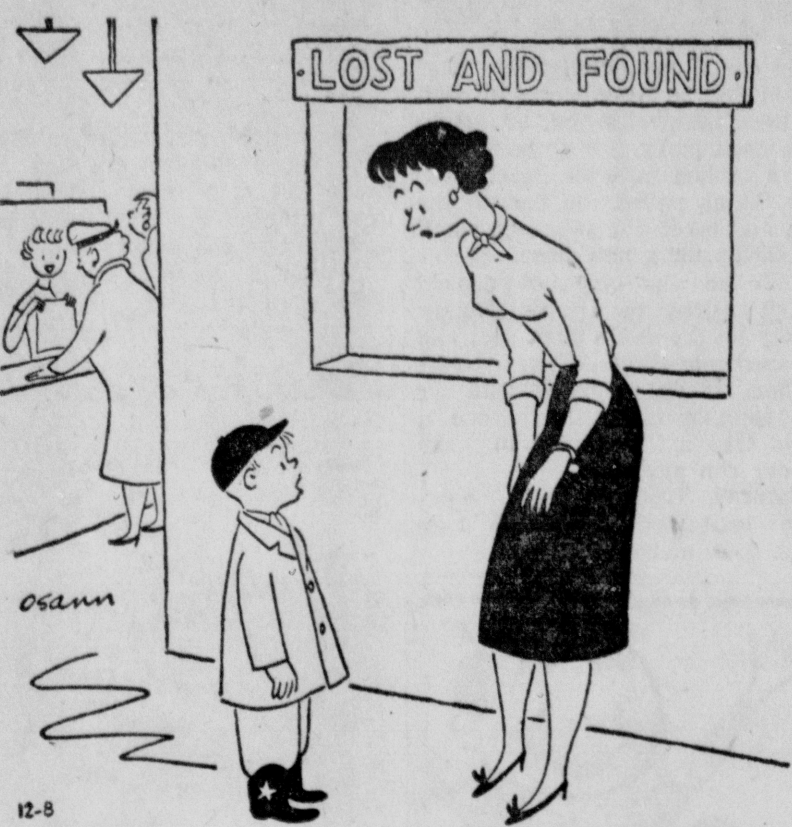

"Fulton Lewis also hastened to remind us that he never spoke to Smith except that time 15 or 20 years ago when he had the misfortune to find himself in the same dining car with Smith. We wonder if Fulton will live long enough to regret his slobbering defense of Anna Rosenberg half as much as he regrets the hello he accidentally let slip out to Gerald L. K. Smith."

Perhaps I should change my mind and give you another, the last paragraph of this stuff:

"To those who wail that factionalism is rearing its ugly head, we reply that the Schultz Jews started this so the Smith Nationalist will finish it. If Schultz can't endure being in the same crowd with Smith, let Schultz himself leave, but he had better hurry or there will be footprints on the back of his rabbinical robe. Us Right Wingers may be rough cattle but we aren't going to wear the Jewish Circle-U brand."

Know the Antidotes For Common Poisons

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

THE moment you suspect your child has been accidentally poisoned, try to find out what he swallowed.

If he is unable to tell you, look for some clue. Often you will find an overturned bottle or jar near where he was playing.

Give an Antidote

When you know what he has taken, give him an antidote at once.

The following is a list of common poisons and suggested antidotes for them:

Poisons: Acids: hydrochloric, sulphuric, nitric, oxalic (usually found in dip-type silver cleaners and other strong cleaning compounds).

Antidotes: Four ounces of magnesium to one pint of water, or white soap suds, or large amounts of soapy water, or milk with beaten egg whites, or even white-wash scraped from a fence or a wall if nothing else is available.

Poison: Alcohol.

Antidote: Hot Coffee.

Poisons: Alkalis (usually found in cleaning fluids, shampoos and home hair-waving lotions).

Antidotes: Vinegar and water in equal parts, or citrus fruit juices, such as lemon juice. Then follow with white of an egg, or milk and flour, or olive oil or melted butter.

Poisons: Ammonia, lye, drain cleaners, washing soda, caustic soda, caustic lime, quicklime, potash.

Antidotes: Lemon or grapefruit juice, or one part vinegar to three parts water, as much as the child will drink.

Do not force vomiting in such cases. It is likely to injure the stomach.

Poisons: Arsenic, Paris green.

Antidotes: Tablespoon of hydrated iron oxide made by mixing ammonia and iron chloride every half hour for a total of four doses. Then raw eggs and flour.

Poisons: Bedbug poisons.

Antidotes: Egg whites, flour and water.

Poison: Carbolic acid.

Antidotes: One ounce of epsom salts in half a pint of water, raw eggs and milk, or a quarter pint of olive oil to a pint of water.

Poisons: Chloralhydrate or knockout drops.

Antidote: Coffee by mouth and by rectum.

Poisons: Gasoline or kerosene.

Antidotes: Salad oil or milk.

Poison: Iodine.

Antidotes: Tablespoon of sodium thiosulfate (photographic hypo) in water, or starch paste followed by a tablespoon of salt in a glass of warm water. Then milk or white of an egg beaten with water.

Poisons: Opium, morphine.

Antidote: Hot coffee by mouth or rectum.

Poison: Phosphorus.

Antidotes: Magnesia or calk in milk. Keep all oils and fats out of the diet for several days because they often speed up absorption of phosphorus.

Emptying the stomach promptly is even more important than administering an antidote. I'll tell you how to go about this tomorrow.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

B. N.: I have a sore and red raw throat all the time. I have had this for a couple of years. What would cause this trouble?

Answer: Sore throat may be due to some type of infection. It also may come from certain nerve disorders. Sometimes material dripping from the nose into the throat produces a long-continued irritation.

"Irving," implored Hayward, "who taught you to be such a brazen robber anyway?" Lazard answered, quite truthfully, "You did!"

The Inheritors

By JANE ABBOTT

SYNOPSIS

If the three heirs to old Josh Trevitt's sizeable upstate New York farm remain on it for at least three months after his death, each will inherit one-third of the land. Those leaving sooner must relinquish their share or shares to those remaining, final resident to be awarded the entire farm. So when old Josh died, his kin were notified and copies of his will mailed them. In the late spring, we find Jennie Todd, inheritor, a spinster, at the Trevitt place, making ready her quarters in the rambling old farmhouse, and being assisted by Wick Middleton, executor of the Trevitt estate. Cindy Todd, a pretty little motherless teen-ager, joins her Aunt Jenny at the farm, to file claim for her "missing" father's share of the land. She is disappointed in finding this aunt a timid soul, but her day brightens when she meets with Gary Norbeck, who has been assigned to the place. Then, with much flair, beneficiary Hester Wilmar arrives accompanied by her daughter Enid. Hester finds everything about the place distasteful, but schemes to win the major land award. And as this wildness is no place for the daughter of a socially ambitious mother, Hester plans to speed Enid off to Europe.

CHAPTER TWELVE

STEPPING back from his easel to study his work of the morning, Gary Norbeck gave voice to a sharp sound of anger. These eyes he had painted were not Cindy's, young, candid, innocent of guile; they were Ursula's—the mouth, full-lipped, lifting at one corner, was Ursula's. With some violence he threw down his brush. Was his brother's wife still so much a part of him that his hands portrayed her without his willing?

He had finished painting in the background yesterday, had thought he had done it well, that the canvas might be good enough to send to Arturo Bressi, the art dealer in Boston with whom he had become well acquainted a few years ago. Today he had done the slender figure, the uplifted head, the face.

And now, this, Ursula, challenging him with eyes and mouth.

He strode down the length of the room, shaken by disgust at himself. To have held her in his memory, yet knowing what she was...

...A knowledge that had come slowly and in the end had driven him to hide here in this out-of-the-way spot, not only from Ursula, but from the man he had let himself become. A betrayer of those instincts of honor and loyalty that were his by upbringing and heritage. A killer—if not in the eyes of the law, in his own. His arm had been raised to strike Alec, his brother—he had been too blinded with fury to know that his grandfather had come into the room, had thrown himself between them, until he saw the old man crumple to the floor. Whether he actually had struck his grandfather or not had not mattered. The doctor had pronounced it a heart attack, but he was dead, the gentle, loving man who had been father and mother to him...

Back to him rushed the memory of that night after his grandfather's funeral when he had walked out from his home in Salem, a fugitive, carrying no more than the least he needed for decency in appearance. A floorboard in the upstairs hall must have creaked under his step—

when he reached the lower hall Ursula, who with Alec was staying at the house until the funeral services were over, was behind him, a thin robe thrown over her nightgown. She had whispered: "Gary, where are you going at this hour?" He had moved on toward the door and she had run after him, flung her arms around him, holding him motionless, pressed her face, her body, against him.

"Gary, don't go! We'll find ways..." Alec has to go out of town next week...

Her soft mouth had lifted to his. He remembered how he had flung her from him, so violently that, but for the newel post at which she caught, she must have fallen to the floor. And he remembered her soft laugh as he opened the door. "I'll find you, darling!" She might, he had known, if he rode Pullman trains, registered at hotels, so he had walked through that night and the next day, and the next, over any road as long as it was unquenched, stopping nights in obscure houses with "Tourists" signs hung out.

Then the storm, the fever burning in him, the lights of a farmhouse and old Jehosaphat opening the door. "Come in, come in, young fellow! You're soaking wet! You're shaking like a leaf!" Warm blankets, warming drinks and the old man's rough hands fussing over him...

Before he was able to be up and around winter had set in. "Might as well stay here, son, if you've no place in mind to go. Makes it company for me." He had stayed. Jehosaphat had asked him no questions as to where he had come from or where he was headed for, that stormy night. Jehosaphat probably had taken it for granted that he was without home or family. As he was. There had been plenty of work for him to do for the old man and he had liked doing it. He had money enough with him to share the expenses of their simple living. Spring had come, and old Josh had said: "Maybe you'd like to move on, son. Young fellows get restless, I know. Though I'd sort of hate to see you go, I'd miss you." He could not go, after that. He had sent for painting materials, books, subscribed to magazines and newspapers. The summer before Jehosaphat had urged him to build the cabin. "It'd be a nice place for you to come to do your pictures."

A girl appeared in the open doorway with a suddenness that made Gary think crazily she was Ursula Thiel. The green slacks she wore—Ursula almost always wore green, the green of her eyes. Then with a sharp relief he saw that this girl's eyes were blue.

"I'm sorry..." She said it quickly with some embarrassment as if she had interrupted him in some very private occupation. "I stopped to ask—how does one get to the other side of this creek? I crossed it on a bridge farther down but I can't find any place up here."

"There's a shallow stretch and some flat stones—the path next to the cabin leads to it." He spoke brusquely.

But she did not go. She asked: "You're Gary Norbeck, the man who inherited part of the farm? I'm Enid Wilmar. I came with my mother a few days ago."

Then she took a step forward into the cabin. "This is nice—my mother thinks you're a farmland, but you're not, are you? Oh! For over his shoulder she saw the canvas on the easel. "You're an artist. You're painting 'Cindy.' She walked to the easel. "No. It looks like Cindy—the figure and the slacks—but it isn't!"

"No, it isn't." Gary snapped the words out.

The girl studied the canvas intently. "Whoever it is—she's lovely! Cindy's beautiful, I think, but this girl has more in her face..."

"A great deal more!" He said it savagely. Then he strode to it, tore it from its frame and across, threw the pieces to the floor.

Enid knelt down on the floor and put the torn pieces together. "I think I understand—she's a real person, someone you know—and you hate her. You were hating her when I stopped at the door. At least you looked as if you were hating something I know—I feel like that sometimes but it is about things I can't tear up. So I just don't do anything. All I've ever done all my life, it seems, is to keep my mouth shut—just agree to everything." She looked over the cabin. "All alone like this, don't you get lonely sometimes?"

Gary wondered if this were a hint for an invitation to call again, but before he could decide she added, in a tone of only speaking aloud what she was thinking: "You'd get to know your own self awfully well!"

She walked toward the door but as the door she paused, looked at him over her shoulder. "I take it you've met Cindy but why don't you come up to the farmhouse and meet the rest of the family—Aunt Jennie and my mother? After all, we're all here together—we should be at least on speaking terms. It's all fantastic enough as it is!" She smiled. "It'd be nice if some day you would cut the grass—there's no one else, and it bothers mother. She likes everything to look tidy." With that she went out of the door and along the path toward the creek.

news behind the news

WASHINGTON—A vivid illustration of the Eisenhower Administration's publicity blunders and shortsightedness, as well as the explanation therefore, was provided during Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey's recent trip to Rio de Janeiro to attend the economic conference in the Brazilian capital.

Humphrey was originally scheduled to fly to Miami on a regular commercial plane, going by coach because a ship of that type fitted into his schedule better than first-class facilities. In accordance with standard practice, the airline had arranged for publicity for its distinguished passenger during the 41-minute stop-over at Miami.

Newspapermen, television and radio people were alerted, and they were only too willing, for Humphrey is one of the most important and likable members of the presidential household. Florida Republicans cooperated because they have hopes, with the help of immigrants from the north, of transforming this state into a Republican captive.

CANCELED—Almost overnight, these elaborate preparations were canceled. They were curtailed, not by Secretary Humphrey, but by Nils Lennartson, his assistant in charge of information and publicity. He announced curtly that Humphrey and the other five officials in his party would fly to Miami on a Coast Guard plane.

It should be noted here that Lennartson, like so many publicity figures in the Eisenhower camp, is a Roosevelt-Truman holdover. He served with the National Production Board, and then shifted to the Pentagon as press agent for Stuart Symington when the latter was secretary for air. Symington is now a Democratic senator from Missouri, and he is frequently mentioned as a presidential candidate for 1956.

Humphrey, politically naive and new to Washington, engaged Lennartson soon after taking office.

NO INTERVIEW—As a result of the cancellation, here is almost all the publicity (one short paragraph omitted because it is repetitious) which the Secretary of the Treasury got in the Miami Herald of Nov. 19.

"Humphrey Well-heeled," read the headline, over the following story:

"Judging from the number of Secret Service men, Secretary George M. Humphrey must have been carrying the United States mint with him when he arrived in Miami Thursday night."

"During his 41-minute stay, the Treasury Secretary and his party were guarded by an estimated 50 Secret Service men and other law enforcement officers. "A request for an interview, relayed by a P. A. A. official through a Secret Service man, was refused."

RILED—Obviously, from the tone of the article, the Miami press was riled. Humphrey will not make friends for the Eisenhower Administration or the Republican party that way—unlike

Home Demonstration Clubs Present Hospitality Fare

12 County Clubs Assist At Meet

"Christmas Hospitality Fare" was the theme for an annual cooperative December project by the County Home Demonstration Clubs. St. Philip's Episcopal Parish Hall was the scene of this session, which was well attended by members and friends of the 12 clubs.

There were three phases of hospitality on exhibit throughout the afternoon: (1) Seasonal decorations such as table, mantle, and door arrangements, place favors, and tree trimmings which make the home beautiful and anti-cipation keen; (2) Homemade Sweets which seem important in any hospitality; and, (3) The homemakers through whose ingenuity and power home-made hospitality is made possible.

Members of each club brought exhibits and cooperated in baking the large variety of cookies for the refreshment table. The generous food exhibit was shared with the County Home and two of Circleville's Rest Homes—thus extending the hospitality theme.

Observation, registration, and fellowship were the opening and closing features of the program. Mrs. Ralph Dennis, accompanied by Mrs. Lyle Ingman, led group singing and sang a solo "Christmas." Mrs. Carl Seethorn gave a demonstration on decorations for a mantle with possible quick and easy variations of each.

By illustration as well as cost and method description, Mrs. James Hott showed that one can have a clever and attractive table decoration home grown and made, or one, still clever and attractive, which is made from "bought" materials.

Mrs. Donald Miller displayed and elaborated on a number of ingenious decorations for door ways as well as the "practical" mistletoe or kissing ball or ring. She explained in detail their economy and method of construction.

The Home Demonstration Agent, Mrs. Leora Sayre, gave a revue of exhibits and recognized the strength and efficiency of home demonstrated hospitality. Mrs. Richard Swenson, wife of the new County Agriculture Agent, was introduced and responded with greetings.

During the closing refreshment period, Mrs. William Defenbaugh and Mrs. Dorsey Bumgarner, past Home Council presidents, poured tea from a table laden with home demonstrations of Home Made Sweets.

Mrs. Loring Storer, Home Council secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. Lyle Davis were general chairmen for the event. Mrs. Leslie Dearth, Home Council president, and Mrs. Charles Van Pelt were reception and registration chairmen. Mrs. Charles Hissey and Mrs. Cecil Ward were hostess chairmen for the home-made sweets exhibit.

Mrs. Homer Peters and Mrs. Hoyt Timmons were hostess chairmen for the hospitality decorations. The refreshment committee included: Mrs. Jesse Peart, Mrs. Russell Yaple, Mrs. Clyde Karshner, and Mrs. Wendell Neff.

Bible Class Has Christmas Meet In Moats Home

Christmas symbols formed the decorations in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Moats of Northridge Rd. Tuesday evening for a meeting of the M and M Bible Class of the Gospel Center Church.

The session opened with Scripture reading of the Christmas story by Mrs. Russell Goodman and prayer, led by Mr. Goodman.

Following a short business session, the group gathered around the organ and sang Christmas carols to the accompaniment of Mrs. Robert George.

Seasonal refreshments were served by the hostess at the close of the evening.

A New Years party has been planned for the next meeting on Jan. 4. The Rev. and Mrs. L. S. Metzler will serve as hosts for the event, which will feature a covered dish dinner. Mrs. Ralph Long will assist Mrs. Metzler as hospitality chairmen.

A. J. Dunkle Heads Council

The Stage Pond Council held a regular monthly session in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gail Hanover of near Ashville.

For the ensuing year, A. J. Dunkle was elected chairman and Charles VanPelt, discussion leader.

The program for the evening centered on a discussion of "Organization for Peace", with a presentation of the contributions made by United Appeals, Korean Relief, the United Nations, CARE and CROP.

Refreshments were served during a social hour. The next meeting held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Dunkle.

Legion Auxiliary To Fete Veterans

The members of the American Legion Auxiliary will assemble at 6:30 p. m. Monday at the Legion Home to go to Chillicothe, where they will conduct a Christmas party for two wards in the Veterans Hospital.

Mrs. Stanley Peters is receiving donations for the party on Saturday and Sunday in her home at 313 S. Court St.

Daughters Host Birthday Fete For Mrs. Ritt

Mrs. Anna Ritt of W. Union St. was honored by her three daughters with a birthday dinner held in the Pickaway Arms.

The table, decorated in a holiday theme, was centered with a traditional birthday cake. Hostesses for the event were Mrs. Seyford Betz of Manito Beach, Mich.; Mrs. J. R. Stratton of Salem and Mrs. Cecil Kerr of Lancaster, who, with their families, were houseguests of Mrs. Ritt.

Those present for the dinner included: Mrs. Ritt, honored guest, Mr. Betz and son, John; Mr. Stratton and children, Marilyn and John; and Mrs. Charles Cassell of Ft. Wayne, Ind.; Marvin Jennings and Miss Betty Clutts of Columbus; Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Clutts of Greensboro, N. C.; Fred Cook of Ashville; Mrs. Charles Rife of Circleville, and the hostesses.

Holiday Guest Meet Held By Deercreek Garden Club

One of the highlights of the holiday season for members of the Deercreek Garden Club was a Christmas meeting held in the Williamsport parish house.

Guest night was observed during the event. A total of 81 members and guests included members of the Clarksburg, Solaqua, Monrovia, Circleville and Mud Daubers Garden Clubs; the Commercial Point Junior Garden club, and several ladies of Williamsport and the community.

The hospitality committee for the evening was: Mrs. Estella Johnson, Mrs. Paul Counts, Mrs. I. Smith Hulse and Mrs. Bertha Porter.

The meeting opened with group singing of carols. Mrs. Mary S. McGhee of Clarksburg at the piano served as accompanist. Mrs. John West of Williamsport was welcomed into the club as a new member.

The club president, Mrs. Ted F. Corcoran presented Mrs. L. D. Howe of the Mud Daubers Club of Chillicothe as guest speaker and demonstrator for the evening. Mrs. Howe used as her topic, "Christmas Arrangements". She illustrated her lecture with many arrangements and original ideas.

Arrangements in keeping with a Yule theme were on display by members of the club and formed the decorations for the event. Mrs. Bertha Porter was in charge of decorations for the refreshment table, which was centered with a Christmas arrangement.

Hostesses for the evening were: Mrs. Melvin Long, Mrs. James

Greenwood, Mrs. H. H. Stevens and the officers, Mrs. Corcoran, Mrs. Paul Counts, Mrs. Omer Lemming, Miss Carolyn L. Bochar and Mrs. Walter Wright. This committee was assisted by Mrs. Fred J. Corcoran, Mrs. Hulse and Mrs. Russell Wardell.

The next meeting of the club will be held at 8 p. m. Jan. 6 in the parish house. Mrs. Paul Counts, program leader for the evening, will introduce Miss Helen Huffman of near Kingston, who will speak on "Winter Bouquets and Arrangements."

Each member is asked to bring a Winter bouquet for the flower show. Hostesses will be: Mrs. Lemming, Mrs. Charles Smiley, Miss Bertha Jones, Mrs. Frank Carter and Miss Lena Schein.

Traffic Jams Getting Eye Of Engineers

Electronic Apparatus Being Used To Solve Movement Of Vehicles

NEW YORK (AP)—It's a bigger Christmas in traffic jams, too. More traffic in store aisles means more tie-ups on the streets—and there are more cars than ever this year to get stuck at intersections.

Electronic engineers are busily tackling the traffic officer's problems. First they thought up use of radar to clock speedsters on the open stretches of streets and highways.

Next, in spots where traffic sometimes only crawls, if that, electronics thought up a scheme of using radar to report changes in volume of approaching traffic and to time the red lights accordingly.

Now the engineers are coming up with still another idea — using those mechanical brains you've read about and seen on television to clock and map changing traffic conditions and then more or less automatically change traffic signals over whole sections of the cities to accommodate sudden and unpredictable shifts in the flow of traffic, or such jams as occur at shift-changing time at factories.

If you've any doubt that traffic jams are getting worse, look at these statistics: The total number of miles traveled each year by motor vehicles has increased five-fold in the last 30 years, according to the Bureau of Public Roads and the Automobile Manufacturers Assn. But the physical volume of work done on the roads has only doubled. Result: More jams and overheated radiators.

The President's highway building program, to be submitted to the new Congress, will tackle the problem between cities. But the city's traffic load is still a headache. And there's where electronic engineers want to try both radar and mechanical brains to make traffic signals flexible rather than set.

The automatic signal division of Eastern Industries at Norwalk, Conn., is offering what it calls an electro-matic master cycle and offset selector system. This is an electronic computing gadget only 19 inches long, 7 inches high and 12 inches deep.

The gadget receives a steady stream of traffic information, mechanically reported from many intersections, which it flies in its gears say the device then automatically determines the most efficient operating pattern for the traffic signals to which it is connected.

When the volume of traffic from the East suddenly swells, traffic signals are turned to let it through the intersection. As northbound traffic volume builds up, the signals are changed to clear it and speed it on its way.

Engineers say the computer is set to disregard sharp swings, however, but rather to determine constantly the average volumes and compute the most efficient signal changes.

The gadget has a panel of meters and lights to give a centrally located traffic engineer a picture of what traffic is doing on key streets over a wide section of the city, if desired. There are control knobs and dials to permit him to set up a master signal pattern.

Electronic engineers claim it isn't as complicated as it sounds. The chief argument is that under the traffic systems widely used now, a master time clock sets a schedule of traffic light to fit an expected flow of cars.

This is fine until changing weather, special events, or just plain

SEAMAN Kyle Y. Ridaught, a descendant of a Florida Indian chief, may be in line for $300,920 from the United States Government. His claim is based on land grant signed by Gen. Andrew Jackson which was recently discovered in the family Bible. It gives the Ridaught Band of Florida Indians 1,751,000 acres of land in Florida. A petition filed with the Indian Claims Commission is asking the Government to pay the survivors of the Ridaught Band $1.25 for each acre, with interest at 5% for each year since 1914. Ridaught is stationed at the Great Lakes (Ill.) Naval Base. (International) driving whims send a rush of cars into one street and in one direction. Result: Either you can't get across an intersection, or you wait schedule of traffic light to fit an expected flow of cars.

This is fine until changing weather, special events, or just plain driving whims send a rush of cars into one street and in one direction. Result: Either you can't get across an intersection, or you wait and wait for the light to change, without another car in sight.

Viet Nam Sees Red Strike Ahead

SAIGON Viet Nam (AP)—The South Viet Nam army believes that the Vietnamese Communists and the Chinese Reds have signed a secret pledge to help each other in any military operations to achieve their No. 1 objective — Formosa for the Chinese and the rest of Indochina for Ho Chi Minh's Viet-minh.

The army said that the reported agreement, signed recently in Peiping, also provides for joint Russian-Chinese-Vietnamese control of the big North Indochina port of Haiphong, which the French and South Vietnamese under the Geneva agreement are to cede to Ho Chi Minh's North Viet Nam forces by the middle of next May.

Museum Uncovers Old Masterpiece

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Art Museum says it has uncovered an $80,000 masterpiece of Botticelli, an Italian painter of the Renaissance period.

Philip R. Adams, museum director, announced yesterday three layers of old paint had been removed to get to the basic work, "Judith with the Head of Holofernes."

Adams said he and a Cincinnati industrialist saw the picture two years ago in Florence, Italy. The 8 1/2 by 11 oil painting was considered a "minor" Botticelli.

It is often suggested that letters and circulars of this nature represent the lunatic fringe of our society. It is said that one should not dignify their loathings with public notice. These examples are two of hundreds that are received in this office every month and represent a continuingly dangerous development in our society.

I should estimate that I receive more anti-Catholic than anti-Semitic literature and that the anti-

Catholic material is printed on better paper, costs more to circulate and gives the impression of coming from more responsible sources. It is therefore more likely to be read.

These campaigns of hate seize on anti-Communism as a vehicle, but they are never anti-Communist in fact, because the writers rarely indicate a knowledge of what Marxism is and why it should be opposed. They usually are against it for the wrong reasons.

No Ohio Angle Seen In Decision

COLUMBUS (AP)—A state utilities commission official says a U. S. Supreme Court decision regarding interstate trucking has no effect on Ohio's case against Riss & Co., Inc. of Kansas City, Mo.

The high court ruled that states may not bar interstate truckers from their highways, even for repeated overloading.

Everett H. Krueger r., assistant attorney general for the utilities commission, said the state had filed its case with the Interstate Commerce Commission and had not acted on its own to rescind the Riss permit.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. (AP)—A new rockfall along the crestline of the American side of Niagara Falls has sent an estimated 2,500 tons of rock plunging into the Niagara River Gorge.

The rockfall, second on the American side this year, occurred midway between Luna Island and Prospect Point, a popular observation area on the American mainland. It was detected by crews operating lights at the falls.

More Trading Seen Brewing In Majors

Chisox Chief Lingers After Parley; Possible Deals Are Numerous

NEW YORK (AP)—The annual major league meetings are ended but that trading man Frank Lane was still in town today—which means there may still be some more player deals.

In fact, the energetic Chicago White Sox general manager has a couple of near-swaps up his sleeve—ready to pull off at the drop of a name—like Finigan or Portocarrero.

Cleveland's Hank Greenberg, Cincinnati's Gabe Paul, Philadelphia's Roy Hamey and St. Louis' Dick Meyer also stayed behind after the meetings ended.

Following is a list of possible deals that have advanced past the plain "feeling out" stage and may be consummated within the next few days or weeks.

1. The Brooklyn-Cincinnati five player swap involving outfielder Wally Post, pitcher Fred Baczewski and Hobbie Landrith of the Reds and second baseman Junior Gilliam and pitcher Bob Milliken of the Dodgers is not dead although it has cooled off considerably.
2. The White Sox, rebuffed in their efforts to snag third baseman Jim Finigan and pitcher Arnie Portocarrero from Kansas City, are prepared to renew their bid with a better and bigger proposition.
3. Lane also has been closeted with General Manager Greenberg of the Indians and may soon announce a trade that would send outfielder Dale Mitchell to Chicago for catcher Carl Sawatski and a utility infielder.
4. The Cards and Reds, unable to come to an agreement after a four-hour session yesterday, may yet swing a deal that could be bigger than the original one that would have exchanged a St. Louis infielder for relief pitcher Frank Smith of the Reds.

The Dodger-Reds deal didn't come off as expected. E. J. (Buzzie) Bavasi, Dodger vice-president, said he called it off.

"The more I thought of it," he said, "the less I liked it." Walter (manager Alton) wanted to make it but I feel I would be giving up too much. Sure, I would like to have Post in left field but I decided I would be better off with Gilliam, who can play left field as well as second base. The deal is off but we may be able to do something yet."

The last-minute refusal left Manager Birdie Tebbetts of the Reds somewhat bitter.

If Bavasi still wants to deal, it will have to be without Post. I plan to keep him," Tebbetts said.

Lane, busiest of the traders, found resistance in his bid to Kansas City for Finigan and Portocarrero. The curly-haired dynamo figured in two deals Monday that involved 13 players.

Parke Carroll, business manager of the Athletics, said he had not been offered the men he wanted.

"We can't let Finigan and Portocarrero go unless we get four players of major league ability," he said. "What Chicago has offered were guys who have only a year or two left."

Twin Bill Ring Meeting Offered

TOLEDO (AP)—Archie Moore, world light heavyweight champion, has offered to meet two heavyweights, Johnny Williams and Don Cockrel, on the same fight card Dec. 29 in Miami.

The champion's unique proposition is an outgrowth of his feud with the International Boxing Club. Moore and Bob Satterfield, Chicago, were scheduled to meet on

Majors Shun Main Player Requests

NEW YORK (AP)—The major leagues rejected the most important requests of the player representatives at their joint meeting and at the same time gave the minor leagues a brushoff.

The majors slammed the door on all but a couple of minor requests of the players, such as improving mailing of contracts Jan. 15 instead of Feb. 1 and uniform payment of expenses in spring training.

In explaining why the owners turned thumbs down on the players' demand for a boost in minimum salary from $6,000 to $7,200, Commissioner Ford Frick, who presided at the joint session, said: "Such an increase would be a pretty expensive item, because in the case of players sent down to the minors, the major league club would have to continue to pay the minimum salary."

Also vetoed was the request that present restrictions on winter ball participation be lifted.

The majors rejected an amendment by the minors restricting broadcasts and telecasts of big league games within a radius of 50 miles of each home city. The owners, however, made an effort to help the minors financially by agreeing to pay minimum fees for players brought up from Class B, C and D leagues. They also agreed to pay part of the manager's salary and the spring training expenses for clubs with which they have a working agreement.

The Miami card but Satterfield was knocked out last week by Marty Marshall and the IBC decided to drop him from the card. Rather than seek a new opponent for Moore, the IBC plans to make a new match, and Moore is protesting.

California Star Tops Receivers

NEW YORK (AP)—A regular defensive end as a sophomore in two-platoon football two years ago, Jim Hanifan of California is the nation's major-college pass receiving champion today, the first the Pacific Coast has ever had.

Hanifan completed his sensational switch, final NCAA Service Bureau statistics showed, by catching 44 passes this season. He also led in touchdown passes caught seven and his 369-yard advance was exceeded only by Stanford's John Stewart, who gained 577. Stewart was runner-up in number caught with 36.

Michigan State's only undefeated basketball season was in 1902-03.

Break Up Mohawks? No, Is Cincy Cry

CINCINNATI (AP)—They're talking again about breaking up the Cincinnati Mohawks, the "Yankees" of the International Hockey League.

The discussion even reached the last meeting of the IHL's board of directors. But Tom Grace, president of the Mohawks, scoffed at the suggestion.

He told the board that Cincinnati, which has won 15 of its 18 contests, and brought up eight rookies this season.

Cincinnati lost its third game of the season last week. Troy applying the job 7-5. Then in an exhibition tilt against Fort Wayne on the neutral ice of Marion, the Mohawks lost again. Marion had an entry in the league last season and the exhibition was scheduled to test the city's ice sentiment. The response was icy: Only 851 spectators showed up.

While Fort Wayne's win does not count in the standings, the Komets needed the victory for morale purposes. They have lost their last 11 league contests and have dropped to the league basement. Fort

Wayne will supply the opposition tonight when the Bruins of Troy, now in second place, seek their fourth straight victory.

Johnstown, which has spent most of the season in the cellar, climbed to fifth by winning three of its four engagements. It is a half game behind Toledo. In turn, Toledo's Mercurys are a half game behind third-place Grand Rapids.

VS
Callic Heiser, et al., Defendants.

Case No. 21280
Notice by publication: Bazler whose places of residence are unknown and cannot be ascertained, and the undersigned Joseph Moats and Francis R. Moats, filed their petition in the Court of Common Pleas of Pickaway County, Ohio, alleging that they are seized as tenants in common of an estate in fee simple and are in the possession of the following described real estate:

Situated in the State of Ohio, County of Pickaway, Ohio, Circleville, Ohio, being the west half of Lot No. 399 according to the revised numbering of the lots of the City of Circleville, Ohio.

And that certain persons, including the defendants named herein, are claiming an estate or interest in the said real property adverse to the plaintiffs.

The prayer of the said petition is: "Wherefore plaintiffs pray that they be held to have good title to the above described real estate, and that they be freed of all right, title, claim or interest of defendants and that their title be confirmed and that they be awarded costs of suit."

Single control blanket at $43.95, double control $51.45 at Mason Furniture.

AP's All-American Grid '11' Sports Stellar Backfield

NEW YORK (AP)—A widely diversified eleven led by the best balanced backfield of recent years has been chosen as the 1954 Associated Press All-America football team.

In the backfield announced today are Ralph Guglielmi, the crafty Notre Dame quarterback, Howard Cassidy of Ohio State and Dicky Moegele of Rice, halfbacks, and Alan Ameche, powerful Wisconsin fullback.

The team was chosen on the recommendations of 11 AP regional All-America boards plus individual recommendations received from more than 500 AP member newspapers and radio stations, and is based on full reports for the entire season.

On the line are Ron Beagle, Navy, and Frank McDonald, Miami (Fla.), ends; Jack Ellena, UCLA, and Rex Boggan, Mississippi, tackles; Bud Brooks, Arkansas, and Ralph Chesnaukas, Army, guards; and Kurt Burris, Oklahoma, center.

The 1954 All-America averages 207 pounds in the line and 188½ in the backfield.

The bigness of the team reflects the return to strong, durable players in the second year after elimination of the two-platoon system with its unlimited substitutions.

The trend of play in 1954 appeared to be away from passing and back to the running game. Despite the curtailment of substitutions, the better teams were characterized by the machine-like perfect-tion that tended to subordinate the individual.

Geographically the first team is divided as follows: One easterner (Army), one from the Mid-Atlantic states (Navy), two from the South (Mississippi and Miami), two from the Southwest (Rice and Arkansas), three from the Midwest (Notre Dame, Ohio State and Wisconsin), one from the midlands (Oklahoma) and one from the West (UCLA).

All of the first team selections are appearing at the top for the first time. Of last year's first team, only Larry Morris, Georgia Tech center, was eligible again in 1954, and Morris was handicapped by injuries.

Ohio State, the nation's No. 1 team in the AP poll and winner of the O'Donnell Trophy emblematic of the national championship, placed Cassidy on the first team and Dick Hilsinki at tackle on the third.

UCLA, also undefeated and a close runner-up to Ohio State, has Ellena on the first team, Bob Davenport in the second team backfield, and Jim Salsbury at guard on the third.

Undefeated Oklahoma, the No. 3 team, has Burris on the first team, and Max Boydston at end on the second.

Notre Dame, playing its first year under young Terry Brennan, placed Guglielmi on the first team and Frank Varrichione at tackle on the third.

The 1954 backfield represents the best diversification of recent years. Guglielmi, a sparkling quarterback, completed 68 out of 127 passes for 1,160 yards and six touchdowns, with but six interceptions. He carried only 79 times for 95 yards but scored five touchdowns and intercepted five passes.

Cassidy, the hbp - along of Ohio State's powerhouse, carried 102 times for 609 yards and an average of 5.97. He scored eight touchdowns. He made the play that probably was the turning point of Ohio State's season when he intercepted a Wisconsin pass and ran 88 yards for a touchdown to break Wisconsin's back and inspire a 21-point final quarter for Ohio State. During the season he intercepted four for 51 yards.

Moegele of Rice - The baby-faced lad who was tackled from the bench in the last Cotton Bowl game - led the Southwest Conference in scoring, ball carrying, and punt returning. He carried 144 times for 905 yards and a 6.3 average. He caught 18 passes for 198 yards, and scored 12 touchdowns in all. He returned 15 punts for 301 yards.

Ameche, known as "The Horse" because of his great power, carried 146 times for Wisconsin, making 637 yards, and scoring nine touchdowns.

Beagle was outstanding at end for Navy. He received 19 passes for 243 net yards and three touchdowns, and scored another touch-

Rio Grande Star Shining Dimly

RIO GRANDE (AP)—What is the basketball outlook at Rio Grande

College now with Bevo Francis gone? New Coach Herman Bush said, "We're doing all right, and we may come up with an even season at least."

The publicity that surrounded Bevo has gone and there are no big-time colleges on Rio Grande's schedule. But Rio has won three of its first four games, the latest by 103-96 over Bluefield State.

Bevo left the school and joined a professional team, the Boston Whirlwinds, and along with him went teammates Wayne Wiseman and Al Schreiber, as well as Coach Nevt Oliver.

SH-H, TAKE THIS LETTER BUT DON'T LET MY WIFE KNOW.

SHE GAVE IT TO ME TO MAIL TWO DAYS AGO AND I FORGOT IT.

OH, MY GOODNESS... THAT REMINDS ME.

WHAT'S WRONG?

MY WIFE GAVE ME THIS ONE TO MAIL A WEEK AGO.

ME NAME IS POPEYE, MAM!

YOU ARE A HERO, POPEYE, EVEN IN MY FAR-OFF LAND OF UBE!

I TRIES TO BE OF SERVICE, MAM, TO ANY LADY WHAT GETS THROUOWED OUT OF A BALLOON!

LOOK! THE BALLOON HAS FALLEN ANHOO!

BAM RASH

I'LL HAVE SOUP, ROAST PORK, MASHED POTATOES, GRAVY, PEAS AND HOT ROLLS!

I'LL JUST HAVE SOME PLAN, CRISP LETTUCE, TWO CRACKERS, A RAW CARROT AND TWO COOKIES OF YOGURT!

ARE YOU READY FOR DESSERT, SIR?

WAIT, RONALDI!

DOGGIE!!

EASY JUNIOR!

LITTLE BOY, IS YOUR DOG FRIENDLY?

YES, LADY!! HOW ABOUT YOUR LITTLE BOY?

OH, DID YOU FINALLY BUY A PAINTING YOU LIKED WELL ENOUGH TO HANG IN YOUR OFFICE?

ER... NO! MY WIFE DECIDED SHE'D SAVE ME SOME MONEY- SO SHE GAVE ME ONE THAT SHE PAINTED HERSELF!

WELL, HAVE YOU FOUND A GOOD PLACE TO HANG YOUR WIFE'S PAINTING?

YES! JUST THE SPOT!

HERE I GET PINNED TO DAVE... HE'S ONLY THE MOST UTTERLY SUPER-DIVINE DREAM-DOLL IN TOWN... VERY NICE, SHE SAYS.

YOU'RE PINNED TO HALF THE BOYS IN YOUR CLASS.

GEE WOULDN'T IT BE KEEN IF I COULD WEAR THEM ALL AT ONCE? - LIKE A GENERAL DOES DECORATIONS OR SOMETHING.

I KNOW WHAT! - WONDER HOW MUCH IT WOULD COST TO HAVE THEM MADE INTO A CHARM BRACELET

I FEEL HIGHLY PRIVILEGED TO HAVE YOU HERE, MR. BRADFORD!

I AM THE ONE WHO HAS BEEN HONORED BY BEING INVITED HERE!

LET'S NOT GET GUSHY, BOYS!

- ANY- WAY, TESSIE'S WAITING!

LOLA, PLEASE! ALL WILL BE TAKEN CARE OF IN DUE TIME!

OKAY, POP! BUT YOU WANTED BRADFORD FOR TEMPORAL TESSIE... SO WHY ARE YOU STALLING?

WHO IS TEMPERAMENTAL TESSIE?

Rudolph the Red Nosed Reindeer

YOU MEAN TO SAY THAT MEAN OLD WITCH STOLE ALL THE LETTERS THE CHILDREN SENT TO SANTA THIS YEAR? MY, MY!

SHE SURE DID!

I'LL BET SHE STOLE AS MANY LETTERS AS YOU HAVE THERE - IF NOT MORE!

TSK! TSK! HOW AWFUL, TO SAY THE LEAST!

G-GRANDMA, WHAT A BIG MAIL-BASE YOU HAVE!

ALL THE BETTER TO SEE YOU WITH - HA!

Eight Ordinances And Resolution Gain Approval In City Council

In the short space of approximately 30 minutes, City Council Tuesday night passed eight ordinances, adopted a resolution and had another ordinance read for the second time.

Seven of the eight ordinances were for amendments to the annual appropriation ordinance. The eighth dealt with placing a traffic light at the intersection of Washington and Ohio Streets.

The resolution authorized the public service director to put a street light at an alley running east of Washington St. and north of Walnut St.

The light will be placed at a point to be designated by the 4th Ward councilman, Boyd Horn, and the city service director, Dewey Speakman.

UP FOR A SECOND reading was a no-parking ordinance for N. Scioto St. The ordinance states that parking from Pinckney St. to High St. would be prohibited. This measure will come up for final reading at the next Council session.

Council approved an ordinance transferring $1,360 from the water works operating fund to several funds within the Division of Water. Broken down, this included: $800 for extra labor, $120 for service connections, $255 for main extensions and $185 for new meters.

The sum of $500 was authorized.

Turnpike Take High

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio Turnpike commission yesterday reported revenues above expectations on the 22-mile section of the Northern Ohio pike opened last Wednesday. Officials clocked 33,551 vehicles through the gates, paying tolls of $13,217.30 since the opening.

Workers Recalled

MASSILLON (AP)—Republic Steel Corp. has called 500 employees back to work at its steel mills here and 200 at Canton in the last two months, the company said today. Other employees, formerly on a short work week, now are working a full five days a week.

for meals of city prisoners being fed in the county jail.

The addition of street lights in the city caused $563 to be approved by council, to be transferred to the street light fund.

Nolan Dunkle, city parking meter collection and maintenance man, was assured $141.50 in salary as council agreed to take that amount from the general fund.

FOR THE PAYMENT of utilities at the city building, council okayed the sum of $100. And $150 was granted from the general fund to pay bills of the City Park Board.

Maintenance of traffic lights in Circleville caused an additional $950 to be transferred into that fund. The reason given for this added amount was that the account was overdrawn.

The controversial Washington-Ohio intersection will have a traffic light. A plan is under way to take the present light at Clinton and Ohio streets and move it to the new location.

Council was notified that the general elections held here Nov. 2 had been certified by the Board of Elections of Pickaway County. This concerned the one mill levy for fire protection.

The official vote was listed as 2,900 altogether; 2,084 for the levy, 816 against.

Informed that water could no longer be pumped free to Ted Lewis Park, council agreed to have the city billed for $10 a year. Since 1949, the bill would have amounted to $600, some of this due to several large leaks in the pipes.
